DISUNITY HITS PARKS PROGRAM

Soaked B'moor Vets Fight Back

RAIN, AND WHAT RESIDENTS TERM IMPROPER GRADING, have created havoc at the end of 87th street in Broadmoor. Top picture shows a $600 retaining wall and fence which gave way and dropped down a 15 foot canyon. The flag stones mark what was once the middle of the 908 87th street home's back yard. Center: one corner of the home at the top is resting on nothing but air. Should a few more feet of the bank go, the home is in danger of sliding. Bottom: dirt from the hill behind has given way, almost completely filling the backyard of this home. The dryer is in the middle of the yard. (Photos by Pat Corner)

More Join Flood Ranks

(Editor's Note: See editorial, and letters on page 6)

Action bound, six more Broadmoor residents today told THE RECORD they plan to present their flooded home cases before a special congressional committee.

The six families, on 87th street near Nimitz, have joined forces with the same number of home owners between 600 and 627 Larchmont drive.

While complaints vary, they all stem from the common assertion that Stoneson Builders failed to provide proper drainage and grading, resulting in thousands of dollars worth of damage to Broadmoor homes.

Thomas Jenkins, attorney for the group, revealed today he will plead the residents' case before a House subcommittee, headed by Representative Albert Rains (Dem.-Alabama), which will be in San Francisco early in April.

The 10-day hearing will probe private housing projects in the Bay Area.

The government is interested in the case, primarily because funds for Broadmoor (as other developments) were made possible through the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration.

No Satisfaction

Broadmoor residents have time and time again sought relief from the FHA, but have "received no satisfaction," Jenkins said.

In a statement from Washington today, Rains said:

"We want to find out why slipshod and downright negligent inspections, which home buyers accept in good faith as proof of sound construction, were made by the FHA and VA."

Keep Nails And Hands Clean—G. Washington

The boy is father to the man, it has been said. In Washington's case this was probably most true. It is, then, interesting to call Daly City's small fry's attention to some of the rules of personal conduct George Washington wrote into a book when he was a youngster, even as you and I.

"Keep your nails clean and short, also your hands and teeth clean. . . .

"Wear not your clothes foul, unript or dusty, but see they be brushed every day. . . .

"Be not curious to know the affairs of others. . . .

"When eating place not your arms but only your hands on the table."

The book with the above and more rules which Washington wrote down because he thought them very important in the conduct of his life then and later is now on display in the library of Congress.

SCHOOL BOARD MEET SCHEDULED THURSDAY

Discussion of the proposed tax boost for the Jefferson elementary school district is expected to be the principal business before the school board Thursday night, February 28.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting which gets underway at 8 p.m. in the Administration building, 344 Santa Barbara avenue, Mike Callan, board chairman, said today.

Dennis & Gross Pledge Efficient City Government

Edward J. Dennis and Henry Gross, candidates for the Daly City council, April 8, today pledged an efficient administration when they are elected.

The two civic leaders said they will conduct a clean campaign, but firmly believe the voters want an efficient transaction of city business.

Both state they are familiar with the taxpayer's problems, and the difficulty in stretching the family income to meet the bare necessities.

"We shall make a conscientious, consistent effort to see your tax dollars are carefully spent," Dennis said.

They assert that intelligent decisions regarding the progress of the Community Center building, transportation, and numerous other civic improvements are needed.

"Changing the present policy of councilmen acting as police commissioners will be carefully programed when we are elected," Denins said.

Dennis and Gross concluded that all sections of Daly City agree efficient government is definitely needed at this time.

Andersen In Riverside

City Administrator Dan Andersen is out of town this week. He is attending the annual meeting of the League of California Cities in Riverside.

Andersen is expected back in time for the regular city council meeting Monday, February 25.

Extra!! Daly City-Broadmoor-Colma Directory Is Fresh Off The Presses

EXTRA!!! The 1952 business and civic directory of the greater Daly City-Colma-Broadmoor area, published by THE RECORD, has rolled off the presses to the tune of 10,000 copies, has been bound and is ready to be distributed to the business houses and homes of this area starting some time next week.

The latest edition of this handy annual directory is more complete than ever, and more attractive in its format and typographical art than any of its predecessors.

It was made possible by the sponsorship of the civic-minded business men of Daly City, Broadmoor and Colma, whose advertisements are interspersed throughout the pages of the new directory.

Table of Contents

On page 3 is an easily-foliowed table of contents which will enable anybody seeking a name, address or telephone number to put his finger on the exact spot without any difficulty.

Page 5 contains the most recent combined map of Daly City and Colma, and on page 7 the reader will find a map of the Westlake district. Page 9 has a map of Broadmoor.

On page 12 you'll find a reproduction of a picture of the "Top of the hill" as it looked in 1890 and in brief paragraphs under it a description of the progress made by Daly City from 1900 to 1911 is given.

On page 15 is found a complete

Air Raid Alert Snafu . . . Local CD Set-Up Is Blamed

Majority of Citizens Unaware of Test

(Ed Note: See editorial on civilian defense.)

"Snafu" was the word most residents today were using to describe the practice air raid held in Daly City Wednesday morning.

The county-wide test was part of "Operation Alert," a simulated enemy attack on the whole Bay Area. Purpose of the alert was to check local civilian defense.

It came as almost a complete surprise to most residents when at 10:34 the sirens atop city hall and the Citrus avenue pump house blew. Although San Francisco had given much publicity to the coming alert, not one word of warning had been issued by local civilian defense heads.

"I didn't even know we were participating in the alert," a local housewife told THE RECORD today.

The Blame

Captain C. J. Ballriech, co-ordinator for the joint cities-counties civil defense planning board, blamed civil defense heads for the fizzle.

More optimistic today was Police Chief Roland Petrocchi. He pronounced the test a relative success in that it did point up the weaknesses in the signal system.

"The signal was heard throughout Daly City, except for sections of Westlake. We plan to remedy this by putting an adequate siren or horn in the Westlake area," Petrocchi said.

As for the failure to coordinate the local effort with the county as a whole, a city official today said: "After this, it seems to me the best thing will be to go along with San Francisco."

Failure of the local test will be discussed at a joint meeting of the city-county civilian defense boards March 6.

CITY COUNCIL MEET SLATED MONDAY NITE

Final decision on a permit for a second taxicab company in Daly City is expected at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night, February 25.

"We hope all interested citizens will be present at this regular meeting," Councilman Ed Mooney said today.

The conclave gets underway at 8 p.m. in city hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

Elementary District Position Pays $4500

Harry Aronson, eighth grade teacher and in charge of physical education in the Jefferson elementary school district, has been appointed to the newly created position of business manager for the system, effective as soon as a satisfactory replacement is selected for his present duties.

The creation of the new position in the elementary district was authorized by its school board late last year as a measure to relieve the pressure of purely business management matters on Superintendent H. Z. Weibel.

More Time For Education

Mr. Weibel told a RECORD reporter that the new business manager would take over the business duties which have interfered with his pursuance of the educational

CITY BLAMED FOR FAILURE

(Editor's Note: See editorial on Recreation Commission.)

Failure of the city to heed a warning by the Daly City Recreation Commission has cost taxpayers dollars and time in the local $101,000 parks program, THE RECORD learned today.

This was the highlight of a Tuesday evening commission meeting which pointed out the costly lack of coordination between that body and the city council.

The commission, composed of four men and one woman, six weeks ago recommended anti-flood action be taken immediately to assure the safety of the new Edgewood and Frankfort parks.

The commission has asserted the city has paid little or no attention to their warning.

Here are the results, as compiled by THE RECORD.

Edgewood park: The cement wall around one side of the park has cracked, and is in danger of going. Some 8 or 10 feet of asphalt covering has cracked and dropped off.

Frankfort park: The park has been flooded, with the ground under the backstop completely washed away. There is now a hole about six feet across and seven feet deep where home plate once was located.

"It appears to me the city is just wasting money, especially as at one time these were minor conditions which could have been easily corrected," one commissioner said. "What was once minor, is now major and expensive."

Ed Cavagnaro, board member, summed up the feelings of his fellow members when he observed: "Just what is the commission for? No one seems to pay any attention to our recommendations."

In all fairness to the city, however, the members observed conditions over the past six weeks have been unusual, and the city just doesn't have the men to cope with the floods. Mayor Paul Green, too, was praised for "digging in" and helping several men to divert waters flooding Edgewood park.

"Nevertheless, in six weeks, it seems to me more could have been done," a commission member told THE RECORD.

A minor aspect of the lack of cooperation was brought out when it was reported the city has purchased $460 worth of plants for the banks on the middle level of Marchbanks park. The plants are to check children from running down the banks.

Several months ago the commission recommended a $500 fence be constructed to serve the same purpose. The city dismissed the plan as "prohibitive" and too costly.

Without consulting the commission, this month, the city purchased the plants which when planted will cost more than the original fence.

"Apparently, there is no real constructive planning when it comes to matters like this," George Pingry, chairman for the commission said.

Other recommendations made six weeks ago by the commission to the city were treated as follows:

1. Marchbanks Park

a. The commission recommended the center opening of the junior merry-go-round be closed so as to avoid a child cutting his hand. The city ordered the street department to do this—but no action to date.

b. Lower the water pipes in the grass area. The city has ordered the water department to do this—but no action to date.

c. Spike the turf area. The city

Hanrahan Says:

B'moor Residents Favor Annexation

(Ed Note: Following is a letter from Claude Hanrahan, leader in the movement to annex Broadmoor to Daly City. It is in reply to an article in THE RECORD last week on findings of a 10-man committee, self-appointed to study the pros and cons of the issue. THE RECORD thanks Mr. Hanrahan for his interest, and hopes other readers will make themselves heard on this all-important issue.)

THE RECORD
3317 San Jose Avenue
Daly City, California

Editor:

The February 14th issue of The Record was read with interest by myself, and other residents of Broadmoor Village. Unfortunately, some of the items contained in that issue did not present a true picture of a problem now existing in our village. Annexation of Broadmoor to Daly City is, of course, the problem to which I refer.

Most folks here in Broadmoor never bother to correct mistatements of fact when you write of Broadmoor, realizing you have been given the information by others who might have a tendency to reflect their own views in presenting you with news.

Further, I personally have never chosen to help increase your circulation in Broadmoor by becoming embroiled in a "newspaper argument." But last week (Feb. 14) you presented the findings of a group opposed to Broadmoor being annexed to Daly City.

Issue

Now, no one would take issue with a group meeting to discuss problems that would affect the future of Broadmoor Village—which is what it appears this group of nine persons were doing. It is nice to believe they have shown such an interest.

However, many folks are dubious that the heading of the article "Broadmoor Annexation Suffers Setback" in any way re-

One Half Council Candidates File Papers

With only one more week left for filing nomination papers with the city clerk, only four of the eight council candidates have filed.

As of noon Thursday, February 21, the following have turned in their nomination papers: Edward Dennis and Henry Gross, Micky DeBernardi, and George Wheeler.

Still to file are announced candidates Councilman Ed Mooney, Joe Verducci, Thomas Tromborg and Del Wilson.

Jitney Hopefuls Are Confident Of Success

Resolved to overcome the red tape of the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, leaders in the movement to bring jitneys to Daly City, today said they were confident they would succeed.

Del Wilson, spokesman for the group, said he had employed an attorney, John Putkey, to handle the necessary filing of papers for the PUC.

Rains said in addition to the Broadmoor residents he had received "numerous complaints from California."

"The majority of the victims are veterans (as is the case in Broadmoor where about 80 per cent of the home owners are vets) who bought low-cost homes and can least afford to pay for major repairs."

Collusion

"We have no evidence of collusion between unscrupulous builders and inspectors, but it seems possible," Rains concluded.

FHA officials contacted by THE RECORD have time and time again stated the main purpose of their inspections is to ensure security of their funds. They take no responsibility for satisfying the home owners.

Meanwhile, The San Francisco Bank, which holds the loans on the majority of Broadmoor homes, had a prompt answer this week for the six Larchmont drive residents who sought action by putting future home payments in escrow.

In a letter to the home owners, Robert A. Peters, bank manager, said:

Advised

"We have been advised by our counsel that this bank cannot assume any responsibility whatever for the physical condition of the property covered by the loan."

"Accordingly . . . the records of this bank show that the installment of principal and interest . . . remains unpaid."

Jenkins today said he would advise the home owners to forget this means of attack, and pay the bank.

"But this does not mean we are licked," Jenkins said.

The Broadmoor attorney said he will soon file suit to obtain payments for damages to the homes, and to check further flood damage.

George Dettweiler, chief accountant for Stoneson, today explained his company's stand on the mater to THE RECORD:

Stoneson's View

"As we see it, the recent flood damage is an Act of God. We are only one of scores of builders caught in the same predicament."

"We built the homes according to specifications of the FHA and San Mateo county. We can hardly be held responsible."

County Engineer M. A. Grant earlier told THE RECORD that the county was on hand to pass inspection, not "to determine how a builder shall build." He, on behalf of the county, disavowed any responsibility for the damage done the Broadmoor homes.

Comparing Westlake to the Broadmoor development, THE RECORD asked Dettweiler how he could explain why the Westlake homes (also passed by the FHA and the county) were not affected by the recent floods. Both developments are similar in that they are comparatively new and built in the same general area.

No Comparison

Dettweiler replied: "Westlake was built on level ground, while we had to contend with the hills. There is no real comparison."

Broadmoor residents fired back today at Stoneson, by asserting they realized a certain amount of flood damage would result from the terrain; but no real effort was made to check it when the rains started.

Richard F. O'Leary, 916 87th street, one of the six new complainants, spoke for the group when he said:

"We have received nothing but the brush off from Stoneson, the FHA and the San Francisco Bank."

Slide Danger

He went on to say that "unless something is done immediately" the whole area is in danger of sliding.

O'Leary's home, as scores of others, back on a 15 foot canyon which has gradually been eaten away by the rains. Many of the houses have completely lost their backyards, and in some places the dirt is washing away from under the foundations.

A graphic word picture of the flood situation will be found on page 6, where THE RECORD has printed three letters from home owners and veterans describing their plight.)

HILLSIDE-EDGEWOOD RESIDENTS WILL WORK WITH CITY

With the projected program of cooperating with rather than demanding from the city government, the Hillside Manor-Edgewood Terrace Improvement Association will hold its first regular meeting at the Little Theatre in Jefferson Union high school next Wednesday evening, February 27.

On February 15 a reorganizational meeting was held for the purpose merely of discussing a regrouping of committees and a restatement of purposes of the organization which had been more or less moribund during the past six months or so.

At the meeting next Wednesday William Cheatham will preside as acting chairman. Committees will be formed for the various activities planned by the association.

Of particular and most pressing interest to the members of the organization is to determine why stop signs aren't being placed on Hillside boulevard, where many children play. It has been maintained by some that this can't be done because it is a county highway.

The general public in the Hillside Manor-Edgewood Terrace areas is invited to attend the forthcoming meeting.

B'moor. Residents Favor Annexation

flects the thinking of all, or a majority, of the 3,000 residents of the area. It is our opinion, and many others, that about 80% of Broadmoor residents have not decided one way or another whether they are for or against annexation to Daly City.

When the time is propitious, undoubtedly, the people of Broadmoor will be presented with the facts, and be allowed to judge, and vote for themselves.

On your editorial page you came forth with "The Truth Behind Broadmoor Annexation." One would gather you were thoroughly conversant with Broadmoor's biggest problem.

Reason

My reason for writing to you is your use of my name in the "news" item, as being a leader in the fight for annexation, and by implication, editorially writing that I, and "my group," are "deeply entrenched with the present City Hall crowd."

Whether you are in agreement with the present Daly City administration is of no concern of mine nor "my group." Neither I nor anyone in Broadmoor placed any of these officials in their present positions, but reading the results of the last Daly City elections it seems they received more votes than their opponents.

Friends

I have many fine friends among the people, and officials, of Daly City, and I imagine they will remain as such whether Broadmoor ever becomes a part of Daly City. Most of them would resent the intrusion of Broadmoor into their local affairs, as we in Broadmoor would resent the intrusion of Daly City into our affairs.

Of the several candidates running for the Daly City council, five are personal friends of mine. I believe any one of the five would well serve their city.

The Honor

Who shall have that honor is for the people of Daly City to decide—not Broadmoor.

It is my hope that, in the future, you will present impartial views in matters relating to Broadmoor, at least on matters of a debatable nature. Also, that you give my views the same circulation you gave your February 14 issue when you distributed the Record free to each home in Broadmoor.

Hoping I have made myself heard, and that I am writing this as constructive criticism as a homeowner in Broadmoor, I remain,

Sincerely,
CLAUDE E. HANRAHAN

Yo-Yo Games Slated Friday and Saturday

Due to inclement weather last Saturday, the Yo-Yo playground championships and the city championship contests will be staged Friday, February 22. The playground contests will start at 11 a.m. and the city championships will be held at Marchbanks Playground at 2 p.m.

Revise "Westlake Water" Song

City To Purchase Reduction Valve

In an effort to change the lyrics of the Westlake water song... "On Again, Off Again"...the city council will call for bids for a water pressure reducing valve, it was learned today.

Decision to call for bids was made at the regular Monday night caucus meeting of the city council.

The valve, estimated to cost about $2,500, will reduce the pressure from the pump on Junipero Serra boulevard which is slated to supply Westlake with all its water. The high pressure has resulted in several pipe blowouts, forcing half of the area to depend on the San Francisco water system.

Councilman Fred Bertetta said the valve expense will be countered by the savings in using local water instead of purchasing it from San Francisco.

d. Patch the fence along the hedge on the top level. The city has ordered this done—but no action to date.

e. Cut the hedge top at the north west corner of the park. The city has done this.

f. Replace poor fence posts. This is being done by the city.

g. Repair the baseball bleacher seats. The city has ordered the lumber for the job, but nothing done to date.

2. Lincoln Park

a. Replace missing and damaged merry-go-round boards. The city has ordered the street department to do this—but nothing done to date.

b. Anchor parts of fence. The city has made no progress on this recommendation.

c. Fix flagpole. The city has made no progress.

3. Edgewood park and Frankfort park.

See aforesaid flood damage.

"It seems to me most of these, except the flood damage, are minor repairs. I could almost do them myself," Pingry said. "Why the delay?"

Elman Rose, recreation director, said he had discussed the problem with City Administrator Dan Andersen and the solution seems to be to hire a full time handy man who could make these minor repairs.

The negative report was followed by a discussion of the amount of work necessary to complete the parks program as prescribed in the $101,000 bond issue passed by voters two years ago.

It was reported that while there is about $30,000 left from the $101,000, approximately $41,000 is needed to complete the program for Marchbanks, Colma, Edgewood and Lincoln parks.

However, at a previous meeting the commission managed to cut the budget to the point where the members are agreed the program can be met with the remaining $30,000.

"But this is going to take real coordination between the commission and the city," a member observed. "Unless this new budget is followed, the program may never be completed."

The member, referring back to the city purchasing plants for Marchbanks park without notifying the commission, asserted such action will wreck the tentative completion budget.

A possible solution to the problem was offered by Pingry who agreed to meet with the city council soon to discuss the whole lack of coordination.

"I am sure we can reach an understanding," Pingry declared.

At this meeting he will also recommend that the city immediately call for bids on four utility buildings. The commission said that until these buildings (consisting of lavatories and storage space) are constructed, the playfields will be useless.

Civil Defense In Schools Outlined By Supt. Tormey

A letter mailed Wednesday, February 20, from County Superintendent of Schools James R. Tormey advised County Manager E. R. Stallings that the schools are moving along in preparations to meet any disaster.

At the same time, Superintendent Tormey wrote to superintendents of all school districts, advising them of his correspondence with Manager Stallings and offering to arrange institute meetings to provide all teachers with specific information to meet the needs of civil defense.

Specifically Tormey states:

1. Most schools have appointed a shelter manager committee to operate their school as a public shelter should the occasion arise.
2. The principal of each school will head the committee.
3. Institute sessions can be arranged to provide all teachers with the information necessary to meet the challenge of civil defense.
4. The institute sessions will be provided through the assistance of San Mateo Junior college.

Orientation Courses

The sessions, or orientation course will have multiple purposes: The first three meetings will give teachers information on such things as how civil defense is set up, what services it offers, specific suggestions on how to safeguard pupils during attack, and how best to utilize parents.

A fourth meeting will be offered to those on the shelter committees. Additional meetings may be requested by any district for special groups to conduct intensive study of any phase of civil defense.

The arrangements are the outgrowth of a request by County Manager E. R. Stallings and the Disaster Relief Committee of the County Civil Defense, asking that school superintendents designate principals and certain faculty members to act as shelter managers in event school buildings would be needed as public shelters.

Court Fines, 1951, Total $27,037.45

Judge Wm. J. Sweeney's city court collected a total of $27,037.45 during 1951, this representing fines for violations of traffic laws, breaches of parking meter ordinances, and for criminal offenses.

The high month was last August with a total in fines of $3,118.00 and the low was reached in the month immediately following, September, when $1,292.50 was levied and collected.

The average monthly fines in Judge Sweeney's court in 1951 were $2,253.12.

Traffic Fines Lead

Traffic fines accounted for $19,763.45 of the total imposed by the local court last year. Fines for criminal offenses were only slightly more than one-fifth of the traffic total, or $3,771.00. Parking meter violations resulted in the imposition of a total of $3,503.00 in fines.

The year 1952 started out ahead of its predecessor when Judge Sweeney imposed $499.50 more in fines in January this year than last, for a total of $2,835.50.

Al Lagomarsino Receives Five Combat Medals

Alfred Lagomarsino, husband of Elsie Lagomarsino, 16 Old Mission road, Colma, was signally honored at the pubiic membership initiation of some 200 men added to the Disabled American Veterans last Saturday evening at ceremonies held at the Burlingame high school. The Colma veteran was the recipient of the army bronze star, purple heart, victory, Asiatic-Pacific service, combat infantry badge, and good conduct medals.

Colonel LeFranz, inspector general, Sixth Army, presented the medals to Lagormarsino in behalf of the secretary of the Army.

The Colma veteran served in Okinawa between August, 1944, and the same month in 1945. He received shrapnel head injuries and was later hospitalized at Letterman General and DeWitt hospital in Auburn. He is the father of Alfred, Jr., seven, and a daughter, Kathy, four. He is the son of widowed Mrs. Amelia Lagomarsino, of 10 Old Mission road, Colma.

"Last" Local Bookie Fined

The Daly City bookmaking slate was wiped clean last Tuesday when Superior Judge Murray Draper fined Anthony Titone, 36, $1000 and placed him on three years probation in lieu of a one-year suspended jail sentence.

The sentencing of Titone in the Redwood City courts brought to a close the trials of Daly City bookmakers against whom the total fines broke all previous county records.

Titone was arrested in a raid on his cigar store at 6264 Mission street staged by the local police and officers from the district attorney's office. Since his arrest and later conviction he had been free on a $5000 bail. He pleaded guilty on January 28.

Judge's Warning

In sentencing Titone, Judge Draper said, "Any violation of probation will result in confinement in the jail—even though there are no prior convictions except misdemeanor traffic charges. Your occupation has always been such that you are always subjected to temptation of gambling."

According to the probation report on Titone, who lives in San Francisco, he has pursued the occupations of cigar store owner or taxi driver.

program of the elementary school district.

"I will now be able to devote my full time and energy," said the superintendent, "to the business of education rather than to the business of the management of the physical facilities attendant on a school district as large as ours."

The new business manager's duties will include transportation for pupils, supply of stores, plant operation, maintenance, manual crafts supplies, new construction, and the cafeteria.

Salary To Be $4,500

Mr. Aronson, as soon as a suitable replacement is approved, will immediately assume his new duties. Since he has also been a part time employee of the city's recreation department, he will be relieved of that, too. A temporary substitution, which may materialize into a permanent one, has been decided on for the part time city recreation department post in Dan Siennes.

Mr. Weibel said that he believed Mr. Aronson would take over his new position within a week or ten days.

The new manager's salary has been set at $1,500 by the school board.

St. Mary's Grad

Mr. Aronson, 35, father of three children, lives at 60 Lynnewood drive. He is a graduate of St. Mary's college, Moraga, of the class of 1938, where he took a bachelor of arts degree. His major and minor were history and education. He also starred on the Gael's athletic teams while in college.

Before coming to the Daly City elementary school district last September, the new business manager taught mathematics and history in Placer Junior college and high school, Auburn. He also coached various sports at the northern school.

Parking Meters Yield A Total Of $15,659.89 In 1951

During the first full year of the operation of the automobile parking meters here the Daly City treasury was enriched to the total gross extent of $15,659.89.

The high in collections for any one month from January 1 through December 31, 1951, was for the month of June with $1,736.29 taken in. In the month immediately preceding it, May, an unexplainable low was reached when only $601.91 was realized from the meters.

For the twelve-month period the average collection was $1,304.99.

THE RECORD obtained the monthly parking meter collection figures from the records kept by the office of City Clerk B. C. Ross.

The month by month collections were as follows: January, $1,180.82; February, $1,380.84; March, $1,334.93; April, $1,646.73; May, $601.91; June, $1,736.29; July, $1,411.90; August, $1,126.26; September, $1,180.37; October, $1,482.18; November, $1,167.59; and December, $1,409.87.

THE RECORD TO AID FLOODED BROADMOORIANS

Broadmoor residents, stuck with flooded homes, can be assured THE RECORD will do everything in its power to champion their cause.

Until recently, we understand these wet and soggy home owners have wondered where to turn. When they appealed to the Stoneson Corporation, the Federal Housing Administration or San Mateo county, they received nothing but "pass the buck" routine.

THE RECORD isn't passing the buck any farther than the front page.

We intend to give this situation all the publicity it deserves, in the fervent hope that it may come to a head and be nailed.

Scores of veterans have suffered because of evident incompetence of the FHA to judge whether or not a Broadmoor home could stand flood conditions. THE RECORD intends to set this right.

We can see no reason why a trusting veteran and his family should suffer because he purchased a home the same government he fought to defend, assured him was in good condition.

Thomas Jenkins, attorney for the flooded home owners, is to be congratulated for his stand. He has the courage to take a case others have termed "hopeless."

We, as Jenkins, believe this is not the case. Nothing is hopeless when the full floodlight of publicity ferrets out the dark corners around the situation.

Congressman Albert D. Rains (Demo—Alabama) will be asked to study the Broadmoor situation when he opens a 10 day government hearing on local housing in San Francisco later this year. We are sure the congressman will give this situation the full attention it deserves.

Meanwhile, all Broadmoor residents who are tired of the "buck passing" routine are asked to contact THE RECORD. We will do everything possible to aid them. A call to PLaza 5-4321 is the key to what may be the end of a problem too long in the solving.

"VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS"

During the past four months THE RECORD has kept a skeptical eye on the activities of the recently formed Recreation Commission.

This four man, one woman board was chosen to direct and advise the activities of the local recreation department. Meeting dutifully once a month they have done their best to make recommendations to expedite recreation in general, and the parks program in particular.

They are to be highly praised for their work, even more so as the only satisfaction they receive is service to the community.

It is a crime that since their formation they have done little but wasted their words.

Time after time they have made sound recommendations to the city council. For the most part, the council has not even replied. Evidently the council, or at least some of its members, think of the Recreation Commission as a buffer between them and the public.

THE RECORD is sorry that at least one representative of the public has not been present at these meetings. They are an eye-opener.

Evidently the council moves right ahead with its plans for the parks and community center, saying nothing to the Recreation Commission. The Commission makes recommendations ...the council promptly forgets them.

A glaring example of this situation was shown at the last meeting of the Commission. At that time all but one of at least a dozen Commission recommendations for improvements of the parks had been shelved by the city council.

The council's stock excuse is "we need more time." Granted, things can not be done over night; but we submit these aforesaid recommendations were made a full six weeks ago by the Commission.

We admire the patience of the Commission members. After four months of receiving nothing but the old "we will do it tomorrow" treatment, they continue to silently serve.

THE RECORD believes the public should break that vacuum by attending these Commission meetings; by lending moral support to possibly the worthiest group in Daly City.

And meanwhile, we suggest at least one councilman make it a point to have the courtesy to attend, to listen, and to learn at the regular Commission meetings.

AIR RAID WARNING WAS BUNGLED

Everyone of Daly City's 16,000 residents started to dig their graves Wednesday morning.

And right along to help was a bungling, murderous local civilian defense set-up.

All that was lacking was a fleet of enemy planes loaded down with atom bombs.

These are harsh words, but they are the only way to adequately describe the so called practice air raid warning held here in conjunction with the rest of the Bay area.

The dummy raid was fouled up to the point where no one knew about it, except a few key officials. Wonderfully secretive, these gentlemen kept the whole thing under their tin hats.

Not one home owner here had any advance warning, except through second hand information relating only to San Francisco, of the test run.

There was not a single line of publicity, of forewarning given.

As a matter of fact, the majority of key men in the local civilian defense program were unaware of the test warning.

What is worse, had a warning been given, there is little, or nothing to show in the way of a civilian defense organization here.

Except for an auxiliary police and fire force, the whole local program has never gotten out of the file cabinets of city officials.

During the past 18 months, THE RECORD has continually begged for some action. We have received nothing but words, words and more words from men practiced in promises but lacking in action.

Let us stop digging our graves. We want the city to furnish 16,000 residents with an adequate civilian defense program, not shovels.

DALY CITY PUNISHES FALSE FIRE ALARMISTS

"When Judge Sweeney sentenced a man to 30 days in the county jail for turning in a false fire alarm last Tuesday," said Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy to a RECORD reporter, "he sounded a clear-cut warning to all those who think it is funny to tamper with Daly City's fire alarm boxes."

Those are the sentiments of this newspaper, too. We add our commendation to that of the fire chief and we hope that in similar circumstances a like punishment will be meted out.

When Officers Lester Bastedo and John Van Otten suspected something amiss when they found Henry E. Shields, a mature man of 45 loitering in the vicinity of the fire box after the alarm had been sounded and questioned him, they were using alert police methods and deserve the thanks of the entire city.

It is regrettable, as Chief Kennedy also said, that the person guilty of this offense against the entire community is a grown man, fully responsible for his conduct. "Usually," added Chief Kennedy, "when a false alarm is turned in and we or the police apprehend the culprit, we find that it is a teen-age youngster. Even a youngster must be taught, however, that to turn in a false alarm is a serious offense and must be treated as such."

SECOND ROUTE SIGN IS NEEDED

This being an election year we would suppose the powers-that-be would bend over backwards to give the local businessmen a helping hand.

But, evidently, this is not the case...at least when it comes to a relatively small matter introduced in these columns two weeks ago. At that time THE RECORD called for a sign at the intersection of Alemany and Bayshore in San Francisco which would point to the route down El Camino Real. Such a sign will benefit local businessmen by channeling traffic through Daly City.

This week THE RECORD contacted the state highway department, and found such a sign will be put up upon the request of the city council. To-date the council has made no such demand.

We believe such a sign is worth the price of a letter head and five minutes of some city official's time.

But then, maybe we are wrong.

What do you businessmen think?

POLICE CHIEF ROLAND PETROCCHI today said the situation of the "crowded" courtesy mail box in front of the Colma post office will be corrected next week. He thanked THE RECORD for bringing this situation to the attention of local officials. The parking meter in front of the box was so located as to make easy access to the box almost impossible. From A Corner

By Bill Katz

Getting up in the morning is a universal problem, avoidable only when you live in the high income bracket.

As most are doomed to relative poverty, it is lamentable man has not discovered a painless means of attacking the problem.

Men still look for the second shoe when it comes to licking the demon "just one more wink" Having swung out of the trees (for a reason no intelligent ape can understand) man is naturally interested in going about looking like a man. Even after having risen in the morning, some men fail in this latter category; but we will skip them.

Faced with the problem, a board of eminent scientists recently revealed the solution. It herewith follows:

1. The first step is to wake up. This is harder than it sounds. In fact, it is impossible for a good many of our more leading politicians.

Up And At Them

2. Once awake, or in a state between slumber and jumping out of bed to close the window, it is best to consider the advantages of rising. But don't give this too much thought . . . it is dangerous. Some will find there is no reason at all.

3. Having turned a jaundiced eye toward the clock, consider how much time is left to get to work. Those who must depend on a sundial are in luck here. In the process of running to the garden for an early morning reading they are sure to stumble over a boulder and be shocked into wakefulness.

4. With the time element between rising, shaving and a cup of coffee resolved, judge what must be accomplished during the day. This should frighten anyone to opening the second eye. If you notice a third eyelid lifting, go back to sleep. Is either a lucky break or a nightmare, depending on how you are fixed with the circus.

Out of Bed

5. Now topple out of bed. It is best to land on your feet, although some find it advantageous to crawl a few feet before rising. This later variety is prevalent among colder climates where early morning fogs drop the ceiling to floor level. The crawlers are also to be found where a hangover suddenly lowers the boom.

6. Although the basic problem is now solved, ramifications are many. To reach the complete state of wakefulness, a quick look at your helpmate's curlered head and weary face is in order. This, it is reported, shocked Rip Van Winkle out of a 20 years snooze. Single men will get the same effect by dipping their big toe into a pail of ice water.

THE CURRENT SCENE

By Cas Glowacki

This is Brotherhood Week. It is Brotherhood Week here in Daly City, in California, in the entire nation.

And the cynics and unbelievers smile at other men's gullibility when they seriously observe a week devoted to a better understanding and greater love between and among men.

Maybe it is the fashion of every age to bemoan the vices of current times as compared with the virtues of an earlier day. Perhaps it is because this generation's crop of professional moaners and amateur moralists finds our shortcomings more obviously apparent that we are subjected to tirades of doubt in man's progress.

And, yet, we are now observing Brotherhood Week, an outgrowth of none other than our own generation. For, it is only nineteen years ago that the National Conference of Christians and Jews started this sponsorship of mutual understanding between men of various beliefs and customs.

It seems that no previous generation ever got around to that. No so-called virtuous times of our fathers or grandfathers quite got to the virtue of tolerance to the extent that they were willing to cooperate in the business of communal living with people of differing faiths.

This writer personally believes that it takes a colossal ignorance of history to maintain that we are not as good people as were our ancestors.

Yes, we are fully aware that glib cynics may sound plausibly convincing when they point to the state of international friction that now exists. It is true that nations are again arrayed against nations in a cold war. Political philosophies between rival camps are clashing daily and we virtually "hear" their reverberations in the loud headlines of our newspapers. It is indeed true that there now exist all the incendiary ingredients for a terrifying conflict.

It is also, regretfully, true that avaricious men fatten their purses at the expense of those who sacrifice their lives in the cause in which they believe. It is unhappily true that we have our five percenters. It is indeed undeniable that men cheat their government out of taxes and think this is merely shrewd business acumen —until caught shortchanging the guy with the white whiskers.

We'll even go along with our self-righteous moralist who cry over the laxity of our home ties. We'll admit the existence of a horrendous statistic of national divorce decrees and accept the interpretation that the sanctity of the marriage vows are too lightly violated, and with utter impunity.

BUT, we ARE observing Brotherhood Week. It is OUR generation which has thought of that as of vital importance. And, even though the idea of universal brotherhood causes a smirk of doubt on the faces of the faithless, we stoutly maintain that it is an aspiration which had for many of the previous so-called more moral generations cried out for expression but which during those generations was not even admitted to man's overall ethic.

Once there was a philosophy of "an eye for an eye." Today we are more forgiving. Not credulously forgiving, either, but understandingly forgiving.

Once, even among Christian people, men convicted of theft had their hands cut off. Today we feel more kindly to our erring brothers.

Once Christians, even those (and perhaps MOST those) who prided themselves on the fundamentals of their religion, condemned a man to languish in prision for a petty debt until he could pay, not bothering to argue the illogic of depriving that debtor of the chance to work to repay the debt.

Once men tore their fellow men limb from limb on the rack which symbolized their faith in the unblemished tenets of the Christian faith. Once men mercilessly burned their brothers at the stake in the name of Him who was most merciful.

We don't do many of those things anymore.

And wars? Hadn't earlier generations their thirty years wars? Their hundred years wars?

And, if you'll read your history, you can learn how profiteers filled their private coffers with the loot from the exorbitant prices they charged the Roman army for food for their soldiers, for fodder to their animals and for the arms of war. We don't read in history that these men were EVER brought to trial for that—their monopolistic profits were too well protected by those in power.

Denouncers of our own age are people who see the trees but fail to observe the forest. If a "little philosophy inclineth a man's mind to atheism," as Bacon put it, then I say that a little knowledge (usually limited to one, circumscribed sphere of man's activities) inclines a man to doubt another man's goodness. And, Bacon continues, " . . . but a depth of philosophy bringeth men's minds about to religion." This writer ventures to claim that a depth of the understanding of history, in all man's activities, will bring men to faith in men—faith in mankind's slow, perilously faltering, but steadily ennobling progress.

First of all, those who most condemn our own age should realize that a disgrace of an age is the fault of the people of that age. That includes those who criticize but often don't live exemplary lives themselves. And lack of faith in fellow man IS a vice itself. The Greeks said, "He who is free from vice himself is the slower to suspect it in others."

From that we conclude with the Danish proverb which says "Unworthy offspring brag most of their descent."

We are not so naive as to believe that man has attained his ultimate perfection as he is today. There is much room for improvement, indeed, a long road to travel.

But we are glad we are observing Brotherhood Week in this, our generation. It is good, it seems to us, that, starting from OUR generation men have given tangible proof that they think it is very important to have a brotherly exchange of views and beliefs and not to fight over them. This has already borne fruit in the greatest tolerance among men that has been known to any age thus far.

Brotherhood among men is of such moment that The Nazarene made it the cornerstone of His philosophy.

Thomas Hickey Is A Defender Of Self-Government

Any community which can number among its citizens such outspoken defenders of local as opposed to centralized government as is County Supervisor Thomas H. Hickey can county itself fortunate.

When Mr. Hickey rose in justifiable wrath to denounce the interference of the state government in the purely local affairs of cities and counties at the recent joint meeting of San Mateo and San Francisco county supervisors in the Fairmont hotel, he raised a voice in behalf of all of us.

Anybody who has observed the trend of government in recent years can not escape recognizing the insidiousness and surreptitiousness of the inroads made on local government by state and federal agencies.

Supervisor Hickey's speech denouncing the usurpation of power over local government by higher echelons should be to all of us a clarion call to man the ramparts of self-government against the sometimes well-meaning intentions of those who would impose their will on us merely because they are bigger and stronger.

This year marks the end of a long service devoted by Mr. Hickey to his county. Tom Callan and A. J. Gaggero are the declared candidates for the vacancy which will occur when Tom Hickey retires. May the best man win.

Deputy District Attorney Requested For Welfare Cases

Investigations of county welfare and state old age assistance cases have created so much additional responsibility that District Attorney Louis B. Dematteis has requested the appointment of a deputy district attorney to handle the legal work involved.

County Manager E. R. Stallings has asked the board of supervisors to grant the district attorney's request. It has been pointed out that recent charges in the institutions and welfare codes made it imperative that all cases where aid is asked for needy children who have been abandoned or deserted be investigated before that aid is granted.

Old Age Investigations

The work of the district attorney's office has been increased, too, by the investigations necessary when aid is requested for the aged. The state department of social welfare has insisted that the clause in the code which holds relatives partially or totally responsible for assistance to their aged be enforced and that legal action be taken when it is necessary in such cases.

The Record welcomes any letter on any event of public, or private interest. These letters are published at no expense to the writer. There are just two requirements: the letters must be signed, and must be within the laws of libel. We hope readers will show enough interest in their city to occasionally "sound off;" for the purpose of this column is to give you, the reader, a chance to express an opinion.

Soldier In Japan Thanks The Record For Information About His Buddies

February 10, 1952
Japan

The Editor,
The Record,
Daly City, Calif.

Dear Sir:

I am a soldier, one of many stationed in Japan. And, like all other servicemen here, I am homesick.

The weather here lately has been cold and wet.

I want to thank you and the members of the staff of The Record for sending me the paper, because the column called "Our Servicemen" has given me a chance to write to all my buddies that I had almost forgotten and whose whereabouts I would not know except through The Record.

This is Sunday and the sun has just penetrated the heavy clouds. So, I guess I'll take some pictures.

Will end this letter with a "P" for "thanks" from all of us over here to all of you over there.

Yours truly,
Pfc. Robert E. Stone,

More For Taxes Than For Food

California's average family spends more to support the federal government than it does to feed itself.

According to figures released today by Frank H. Abbott, Jr., President, Sunset McKee Co., Oakland, federal taxes, direct and indirect, cost the average family here approximately $1,300 per year. That same family spends around $1,000 a year in local retail food stores.

Mr. Abbott said these figures are part of a survey just compiled by the National Association of Manufacturers to show how much the cost of federal government has gone up in terms of family incomes.

"This analysis shows," he said, "that of a total of 2,932,100 family groups in the state of California, approximately 594,600 have incomes up to $2,400 a year, 1,121,900 groups have between $2,400 and $4,800, and 1,215,600 have incomes over $4,800 a year. This means that the average family income is $5,265 per year," he explained. "By taxing away $1,300 of this amount, the federal government is taking on the average more than 25 cents out of every family income dollar."

NAM's analysis, Mr. Abbott said, is based on official U. S. government statistics published by the Department of Commerce and the Bureau of the Census adjusted to include federal income taxes and such other federal levies as excises and processing taxes.

Dolwig To Seek Re-Election

Richard J. Dolwig, incumbent San Mateo County Assemblyman, announced today that he will seek re-election. Dolwig will campaign in the newly created 26th District comprising the southern portion of San Mateo county.

In making this decision, Dolwig expressed his appreciation for the support of those who urged him to make a bid for the Congressional seat allocated San Mateo county.

Dolwig did not seek election to Congress because:

1. He feels that his program for San Mateo county and Bay Area development will be realized by his return to the Assembly. Much of the legislation required along these lines deals with special studies made by interim committees which he headed. His experience will make possible an earlier completion of these programs.

2. Because he can't afford to give up his law practice to go to Congress, which in Dolwig's opinion is a full time job.

Judge Bocci Urges Coastside Highway Improvements

Judge Thomas L. Bocci, Jr., today joined the scores of civic leaders urging immediate action to open the two-mile stretch of coast highway recently washed out by floods.

Present defects of the highway are rendering it useless for both tourists and commuter traffic, Judge Bocci said.

"Coastside residents are deserving of better treatment," Judge Bocci said. "They have put up with this situation for the past twenty years, and it is high time some constructive action was taken to aid them."

Judge Bocci observed that the washed out highway is playing havoc with the development of the coast, and has resulted in the loss of many thousands of dollars to coastside business men.

He said he had not reached a conclusion as to the best solution to the problem, but that he is giving it serious consideration and will do everything in his power to aid in either the realignment or relocation of this vital highway.

"An all-year open road is the only solution," Judge Bocci concluded, "and I shall do my best to see this is brought about."

POLITICAL SCENE

County Democrats Gather Saturday To Choose Election Hopefuls

Political history will be made in California when more than 430 Democrats assemble in the San Mateo Junior College Auditorium, San Mateo, on Saturday to vote endorsements for state and national candidates from San Mateo county in the first pre-primary convention ever held in the state.

Named to represent San Mateo county will be candidates for United States congressman from the ninth district, newly created and consisting of San Mateo county only, and the offices of state senator and two state assemblymen.

That this convention has been recognized as an important step in strengthening the Democratic party is evidenced by the expected presence of many state leaders. Two keynote speeches will be made by top elected officials. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, state attorney general, will address the morning session, while George R. Reilly, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, will speak during the afternoon.

To date, 433 delegates have been accredited to nominate and vote for endorsement of candidates as follows: 301 precinct leaders; 42 delegates at large; 25 county central committee members; 65 city and county officials and state committee members. All are Democrats registered in this county.

Candidates who have already indicated their intention of seeking the convention endorsement are: Harold F. Taggart, 565 Edgewood road, San Mateo, and Victor Binsacca, 1519 Edinburgh street, San Mateo, competing for the congressional seat from the ninth district; and Joseph P. Gilmore, 754 Niantic avenue, Daly City, and Roy A. Archibald, 117 Anita drive, Burlingame, in the race for state assemblyman from the 25th assembly district, covering the north county area.

The convention will be called to order in the San Mateo Junior College auditorium at 10:00 a.m., Saturday, after registering delegates from 9:00 a.m. on. Following the adoption of rules and accrediting of delegates, permanent convention officials will be elected. A resolutions committee will be appointed and will go into session to draw up the party platform.

Precint leaders and delegates at large already named from this area: DALY CITY: Walter Gilleis, Mrs. Thelma Campion, John N. Strebel, Charles R. Garry, Mrs. Gwendolyn J. Clapper, Ambrose J. Linden, Martin Pahlka, Mrs. Mary Bilmore, Edward Dennis, Anthony Ricci, George F. Wheeler, Mrs. Iva G. Tully, Lionel Farber, David E. Albin, Fred H. Kruse, William B. Ziegler, Starr W. Dunham, Raymond M. Toney, Mrs. Dorothy V. Sousa, George W. Clapper.

COLMA: Dr. Donald Castleberry, William D. Merchant, Daniel Kass, Howard Richardson, Thomas M. Jenkins, Edward H. Diaz, Haldane V. Cashdollar, James McKay, Claude Hanrahan, Alfred A. Girard, Florence Dombey Shreve.

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

It is five o'clock, when, peering at my Bulova through a sudden blaze from the ceiling I hear the patter of little feet running down the hall and know it is Malcolm, heading for the bathroom.

"That does it!" I groan, rubbing my eyes, "There'll be no more water for him at bedtime!" I count ten, then, and call out to him, "Why are you jumping out of bed so early in the morning? Why don't you go if you have to go and come back to bed?" But there is no sound from the bathroom and no sound from him as he comes and jumps on the foot of my bed.

I look at him, but he shakes his head and curls into a tight ball under the striped afghan laying there. He is not in his best mood, but at last he does answer:

"I just went to see my face in the mirror. . ." and curls himself even more closely; closing his eyes until the lashes bend with squinting.

"Were you afraid it wouldn't be there?" I ask gently and he gives a strangled:

"Yes!"

Crawler

"Would you like to crawl under the covers with me?"

"No!" comes the abrupt and normal voiced reply, "You smell bad."

"I DO NOT smell bad," I say sharply, giving myself a good sniff.

"You do so!" he insists, "But, if you got out—" he wheedles, "I'd get in your place and you could sleep in MY bed!"

"Well, we're not going to change beds, young man, and furthermore—I want to know just what you mean—I smell bad. I can't smell anything!"

"Well," he says slowly, "You smell something like a dirty ashtray," and I am crushed, my ego level with the dust fluffs under the bed. . . . I sniff again.

This time I hit the jackpot when I place my hand in front of my mouth and breathe out.

"Out of the mouths of babes" flashes into my mind only to be transposed into "a stink and an abomination," and I turn my head as I tuck Malcomn back into his own bed.

No, I am not giving up the habit . . . bad as it is it has me in its power for the present, at least. But, I will try the muchly advertised chlorophyll treatment—for me when I smoke, and for Malcolmn when he indulges in his own pet vice of eating quantities of little, green and very pungent onions!

NEW ARRIVALS

TRAPANI

Mary Ann, third child and second daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Trapani, 35 Westlake avenue, natives of Daly City, tops the list of new babies listed on this page by her weight at birth—a sizeable ten pounds and one ounce.

Born at Mary's Help hospital on February 2, she was hilariously welcomed at home by her brother, Christopher, 7, and her sister, Cynthia, five. The young lady's daddy, a carpenter for the Doelger Construction company, is seriously contemplating building a new home for his growing brood.

CALLAHAN, Frank C.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Callahan, of 515 MacArthur drive, Colma, became the parents of a daughter born on February 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Cuneo, of 322 First avenue, welcomed their first-born when Stanley Louis made his appearance at St. Joseph's hospital on January 30, weighing a sturdy eight pounds, five ounces.

HAGE

Weighing a healthy nine pounds, four ounces, Richard Allan, first child born to Lieutenant and Mrs. Richard H. Hage, came upon the scene at Letterman Army hospital on January 30.

Lieutenant Hage is bombardier instructor at Mather Air Force base, Sacramento.

CALLAHAN, Robert F.

John Kevin, first-born child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Callahan, of 80 Forest Grove drive, Daly City, was ushered into this world at St. Mary's hospital on February 1. He weighed six pounds and fourteen ounces. The child's father is a government worker.

Local Schoolmen Go To County Meet

Future Needs To Be Surveyed In San Mateo

Looking to the future school needs of Daly City as related to the overall county needs, the local school boards will attend en masse the joint meeting of the boards of education of the various San Mateo county communities which will be held at the McKinley school in San Mateo next Monday evening, February 25.

The county-wide conference has been called for the purpose of projecting plans to meet future requirements, in so far as those can be predicted, of the school systems in this area.

With this in view Dr. William Odell, Stanford university professor in the department of education and former superintendent of the Oakland city school system, and Dr. O'Connell, also of Stanford, will address the members of the respective school boards on the need and feasibility of launching a survey in the near future.

Local Boards To Attend

The entire membership of the Jefferson Union high school district board, headed by Pete Markovich, chairman, will attend the meeting. Other members of the board are Mrs. Ann Eason, clerk; and Thomas Callan, Sr., Lyal Ingersoll and Mrs. Mildred McGeein. Stanford Hannah, superintendent, will also attend.

The members of the board of Jefferson Elementary district will also join in the county conference. They are Chairman Mike Callan and Andrew Van der Werff, clerk, and Mrs. Helen Cheatham. They will be accompanied by H. Z. Weibel, superintendent.

Annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale To Be Held March 1 to 21

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale will start this year on Saturday, March 1, and will continue until March 21. The members of local Girl Scout organizations will canvass homes and some will be stationed at strategic points in the banks and food markets. In the latter instance they will be accompanied by their elders as escorts. Two types of cookies will be sold, plain and sandwich type.

The proceeds of the sale will be deposited in the general fund, for such things as handcraft supplies, badges and trips to historical places in the Bay Area.

Some of the proceeds will be donated toward the purchase of a permanent camp site. Thus far local Girl Scouts have been leasing their camp site.

The neighborhood chairmen are: Parkview, Mrs. Dorothy Waldvogel; Peoria, Mrs. Clarence Sciaroni; Colma-Broadmoor, Mrs. Wilbur Fradenburg; Westlake, Mrs. Charles Enlow; Bayshore, Mrs. Charles Doty; and Sharp Park, Mrs. Harry Nickerson.

LT. CALDERON IS BACK FROM KOREA

First Lieutenant Ray Calderon, 29, returned to Daly City last Tuesday after a four-month tour of active duty in Korea as a bombardier in the Air Force.

Lieutenant Calderon will spend a 15 day leave here, after which he will report for duty for further training at Tuscon, Arizona.

Mrs. Verna Calderon, the lieutenant's wife, is an attendance clerk at Jefferson Union high school and was formerly employed in the office of THE RECORD. Lieutenant Calderon has been in the service since September, 1950. Just prior to entry into the Army he was Meteropolitan Life insurance agent and before that worked in the Daly City Bank of America.

Church News

The Solemnity and introspection of the Lenten season which begins with Ash Wednesday next week reflect themselves in the announcements of the churches of Daly City, Colma and Broadmoor. Sermon topics for the services of the forthcoming Sunday will concern themselves with Lent or in preparation for the annual commemoration of the Passion which has influenced two thousand years of Western civilization.

Lenten Sermons To Be Given By Noted Priest At O.L.P.H.

The Rev. Father Kevin C. Moriarty, assistant director of the Society for the Propagation of Faith, will deliver a series of sermons at the special Lenten devotions at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church, 60 Wellington avenue, on Tuesday evenings at 8 o'clock.

Next Wednesday ashes will be blessed at the church at 6:30 a.m. and distributed at the 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock masses in the morning and at 3 and 8 p.m. Ash Wednesday will be signalized at OLPH church by a special service at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Lenten Services

Lenten services of the recitation of the Stations of the Cross will be held each Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock. A mass will be said each weekday at 7:30 a.m.

Ocean View Christian Church Young People To Attend Meet

Ten young persons of the Ocean View Christian church have registered to attend the annual mid-winter Youth Meet of the Christian Churches, being held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 22-24, at the Del Paso Boulevard Christian Church in Sacramento.

Accompanying the group, as chaperons, will be Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lefebvre, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blair, and Mrs. Vivian Merritt. Mrs. Eunice Carpenter of Berkeley, the youth director for the Christian Churches of Northern California, has planned the three-day conference which will feature class sessions, devotions, sermons, as well as social affairs for the young people. The local group will return on Sunday afternoon.

The pastor, Rev. W. Lawrence Wells, will preach on "The Choice That Changed The World" at the 10:45 a.m. services Sunday, February 24. Sunday school will be held at 9:30 p.m. at the church, 107 Sagamore street.

Lutheran Church Of Our Savior To Have Lenten Service

Lenten services will feature the program at the Lutheran Church of Our Savior, Garfield and Junipero Serra boulevard, on Ash Wednesday, February 27, at 7:30 p.m. Succeeding mid-week Lenten services will be held at this church on Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

The pastor, Rev. R. G. Konzelman, B.D., will preach the pre-Lenten sermon at the 11 a.m. divine worship service next Sunday, February 24.

Sunday school and Bible classes are at 9:45 a.m. every week. Rev. Konzelman extends a cordial welcome to all who have no church home to worship at Our Savior's. He may be contacted at JUniper 4-8501 or JUniper 4-0293.

Mr. Stepp To Preach On "The Seven Cries From The Cross"

Beginning this Sunday, February 24, the Rev. Carlos L. Stepp, Jr., pastor of Grace Church of The Nazarene, will preach on the "Seven Cries From The Cross" during the Lenten season. This Sunday's topic will be "Father Forgive" at the 11 a.m. service.

At the 7:45 p.m. service Sunday Mr. Stepp will deliver a sermon on "A Christian, Real or Counterfeit."

Tomorrow, Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock a party for the young people of the congregation will be given at the church, 101 Vista Grande avenue. Next Wednesday, February 27, the usual mid-week prayer service will be held at 7:45 p.m.

Holy Angels Will Have Age-Old Lenten Ceremony

Ash Wednesday, February 27, will usher in the solemnity and penitent atmosphere of Lent at services to be held in Holy Angels church, 107 San Pedro road, Colma, at 7:30 o'clock in the morning.

Immediately preceding the mass that morning, the Rev. Anthony Morrissey, pastor of the church, will bless the ashes (remains of burning the palms which are distributed the preceding Palm Sunday) which will then be sprinkled on the foreheads of the faithful.

The sprinkling of ashes is, in the Catholic church, a symbolical reminder of the religious "Dust thou art and to dust returnest." This ceremony dates back to early Christian times.

Lenten Services

Lenten services at Holy Angels church will be held on Ash Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Thereafter, the Stations of the Cross will be recited each Tuesday and Friday of Lent at 7:30 p.m. Every Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock the Stations of the Cross will be said by the children of the congregation.

Masses on Sundays are at 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 o'clock in the morning and at 12:15 p.m.

Echoes Of Mass Meet To Be Topic For Broadmoor Church

Reflections brought back from the conference and services held at the First Presbyterian church of Oakland last Sunday will be the pivot around which the Sunday morning worship at 11 o'clock will be held at the Broadmoor Community Presbyterian church, 87th street, west of Junipero Serra boulevard. The minister, John A. Glasse, and many members of the congregation attended the Oakland services.

"Echoes From the Moderator's Mass Meeting" is the exact title of this Sunday morning's service topic. Besides Mr. Glasse, many of the congregation will take an active part in the discussion of impressions carried away from the East Bay mass meeting.

The Sunday school and services for young people, from the age of three through high school, will be held at 9:45 a.m. Sunday. The Youth Fellowship for Hi-Schoolers will start at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. The subject of discussion will be "Christian Fellowship With Our Parents and Friends."

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock Esther Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Warren Baker, 955 Foothill drive. And on Wednesday evening, February 27, at 1:30 p.m. Martha Circle will meet with Mrs. Henry Suenderman, 431 Bryant street, south of Washington.

Hope Lutheran Has Rapid Enrollment In Bible Classes

The recent rapid increase in enrollment in the Bible classes at Hope Lutheran church have necessitated the addition of two new teachers to the Christian Education staff. They are Miss Lorraine Cady and Mrs. Virginia Neff. They will instruct the beginner and primary classes.

The church temporarily holds its services in the Broadmoor Community center, White near 87th street.

The pastor, Rev. Louis C. Marting, will preach on "Is Perfection Possible" at the Sunday morning worship, February 24, at 11 o'clock. Sunday school will be held at 9:45 a.m.

Instead of the usual monthly meeting, the Men's club will hold its first annual Ladies' Night on Friday evening, February 29, at 7:30 o'clock. The men will serve the dinner to their lady guests. Reservations may be made by calling PLaza 5-7855. Entertainment will follow the dinner.

A ski trip is planned for young people of the area on the week-end of March 1. Eight young people of the Daly City-Broadmoor area will be among the 80 Lutheran boys and girls to leave at 3:30 a.m. next Saturday morning. Sunday services will be held outdoors in the mountains.

Bethel Lutheran To Hear Lenten Sermon Wednesday

At Bethel Lutheran church, Alemany boulevard and Huron avenue, the service next Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock will be in preparation for the Lenten season. The Rev. Herbert P. Schroeder, pastor, will preach on the subject of "The House of Prayer." Special music will be rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Robert Bauer. Mrs. Florence Hendersen will be heard at the organ.

Midweek Lenten services will be conducted every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, beginning Ash Wednesday, February 27. The pastor will speak on the subject, "Crucifying the Son of God Afresh." On the following Wednesdays guest speakers will occupy the pulpit.

Grace Presbyterian Women's Council To Have Luncheon

The Women's Council of the Grace Presbyterian church, Crocker and Winchester streets, will observe the launching of the program theme of 1952, "Christ, Our Hope," at the World Day of Prayer Friday, February 29.

The executive committee will meet at 11:30 a.m. and a luncheon will be served to the entire membership at 12:30 p.m. Circle No. 4 will act as hostesses with Mrs. Clyde Noe, president, acting as chairman of the committee on arrangements. Mrs. Andrew Anker, president of the Women's Council, invites any one who is interested to attend.

The pastor, Dr. William Harberts, will deliver a sermon on "The Word of Pardon" at the 11 a.m. Sunday service, February 24.

The choir of the church has added three new male voices. Rehearsals are held every Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Ocean View Church Of Christ To Hear Rev. Vyron Fender

The Rev. Vyron Fender, pastor of the Ocean View Church of Christ, 474 San Diego street, will preach on the theme of "A New Creature" at the 11 o'clock Sunday morning service February 24.

The Bible school will meet at the church at 9:45 a.m. and the evening worship will be held at 7 p.m., following the meeting of the young people's group at 6 o'clock. Mr. Fender will preach on "The Manifestations of God's Love Toward Humanity" at the evening worship.

The mid-week prayer meeting and Bible study will be held at the home of Mrs. Fern Thompson at 56 Goethe street, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, February 27. Choir practice will take place at the same address at 7:15 p.m.

Transportation is furnished to any of the activities of the church. Arrangement may be made by calling PLaza 5-6179.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
Rash Marriage

"YOU DON'T WRITE much about alimony," writes Mrs. Laurrette Adams, of Fargo, "and yet, with more than two million women entitled to it, it seems to me a problem of today that is worthy of occasional discussion.

"I am 33," her letter continues, "deserted in 1944, when my husband returned from Guadalcanal. Ours had been a hasty courtship and marriage; my boy's father never has seen him. Jimmy was born six months before I received a letter saying that Lewis, my husband, wanted a divorce, was disgusted at the idea of returning to me, and was planning a second marriage. This came like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky, but, as I was to discover later, I am not the only woman whose young life was blasted that way.

Trapped

"The arrangement was that my husband should give me full custody of Jimmy, pay me $100 a month, and $40 a month for Jimmy's support until he is 18. As Lew is a junior partner in his father's very prosperous law firm, and makes close to seven thousand a year, this should not be too much. But he has remarried and had two little girls and an extravagant wife, and he also supports her mother and brother, according to report, so he represents himself as very much strapped.

". . . hasty courtship . . ."

"He pays, yes. But he never pays on time. I have to telephone every month, and sometimes have to ask my lawyer to jog his memory. Sometimes he writes me a little note with his check, saying something insulting like how long am I going to keep this up, haven't I found someone who wants to marry me?

"I can't tell you how humiliating and even maddening this is to me. I live with my mother whose only contribution to expenses is that she owns the house and pays a low tax yearly.

"We rent all the down tairs rooms except the kitchen to a woman doctor. This means we have no gracious living space, and can naturally have but a limited social life. I am not complaining, but it interests me to talk to other divorced women, in shops and in the circle of my friends, and to discover that the very husbands who wanted the divorces, and more or less forced them, are acting in this cruel way about alimony payments.

A Racket

"My lawyer tells Lew that he must be more prompt, and Lew says that alimony is a racket and that no self-respecting woman would go on taking it year after year. This is very different from the way he talked when he wanted to be free. I have never seen him since he sailed away; we had known each other then only seven weeks. Mother and I live out of town, keep much to ourselves, and devote ourselves to my boy, determined that his life shall not be saddened by his father's faults.

"Woman after woman tells me a similar story of desertion, cruelty, and utter indifference to obligations and to children. God knows we don't want divorces! We don't want to be lonely and unloved. But what little dignity we could save from the wreckage of our hopes is torn away by the insolent coldness of the men who swore to love us always. Have you anything to suggest that will help me to convince my husband that he owes us something better than this?"

Laurette, you are right in your statement that this case is not unusual, and my abhorrence of divorce—any divorce—is well known to anyone who reads this column.

But at the same time, alimony in itself is an indefensible thing, and a smart woman ought to get away from it as fast as she can. Help with the small boy's expenses is another question, and Lew is bound on all accounts to pay that. Legally he can be held to it

But look at your case as a healthy young human being, not as a deserted wife. You and Lew made a hasty, ill-considered marriage. In those war years a million girls and boys did the same, and some turned out well and many didn't.

Now you say to Lew, "For those weeks of wartime excitement and mistaken passion, you must support me as long as I live. No matter what your difficulties I will never have to help you. Though I married a capitalist tomorrow, you would have no claim on one penny of mine. I will hold my son, I will keep him conscious of his father's faults. But I will make no efforts to support him, because he and I are assured now of support as long as you live." This does not seem fair from the man's viewpoint. It is understandably so.

Colma PTA To Have Fashion Show Soon

Final plans for the elaborate Leap Year fashion show and silver tea are being completed. It is to be held at the home of Mrs. Ramon Gomez, 100 Alder avenue, Garden Village, on Friday, February 29, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The mothers, and children of our members, are acting as models and will display clothes made in the home. Many attractive costumes have already been completed and are ready to be shown. There will also be a table of needlework for sale, made and donated by members. It is urged that all members be present.

The executive board of the Colma PTA will meet in the Teachers' room of the Jefferson elementary school Tuesday morning, February 26, at 10 o'clock. All board members are requested to attend. Please notify your president, PLaza 5-0072, if you cannot come.

On February 14, several of the Room Mothers assisted the kindergarten teachers of the Jefferson elementary school by acting as postmen for the distribution of Valentines in these classes. They were Mrs. J. D. Hopper, Mrs. Edward Banta, Mrs. E. J. Dennis, Mrs. Dove, and Mrs. A. Leavitt.

At Founders Meeting

The Colma PTA was represented at the District Founders Day meeting, February 21 by Mrs. George Bertucci, Mrs. Wm. Chessman, Mrs. E. J. Dennis, Mrs. J. D. Hopper, Mrs. Stella Jensen, Mrs. Sanford Vickers, and Mrs. John C. Wiesner. The Silver Offering of $10, which was collected at Colma's recent Founders Day observance, was presented by the president, Mrs. John C. Wiesner. The money donated by the children of Jefferson Elementary and R. S. Thornton schools for the Butano Forest Fund, was also presented to the district.

The Colma Parent-Teacher Association is proud of the part it played in the Mothers March of Dimes for polio, which was completed recently. Mrs. Sanford Vickers acted as chairman for the Jefferson elementary school district, with Mrs. Joseph Doyle as co-chairman.

The following mothers participated in the March of Mothers in the area assigned to the Colma PTA: the Mesdames Astleford, Bates, Bavero, Beaton, Brandon, Bookout, Callan, Cambridge, Carouso, Cotton, Cox, Denham, Dennis, Doyle, Gamblin, Gianni, Gravett, Hansen, Hopper, Hudson, Hutchings, Johnson, Kucich, Newman, O'Keefe, Olmanson, Pollard, Raylance, Reginilli, Schroeder, Tuvo, Urbanus, Van Aken, Vickers, and Wiesner.

Other Colma members assisted the PTAs of the Jefferson elementary district in their home neighborhoods as well.

Speech & Drama Course Offered

Both morning and evening classes in Speech and Drama II, devoted to oral interpretation of literature, now forming at Music and Arts Institute of San Francisco are now open to the public as well as to regular college students.

Miss Marjorie F. Walsh of Berkeley has been engaged as a member of the faculty of Music and Arts Institute to conduct college classes in Speech and Drama, College English, and remedial English.

Lenten Season

Spiritual Inventory Is At Hand

By CAS GLOWACKI

Next week, February 27, is Ash Wednesday. That day each year marks the beginning of the Lenten season.

In Daly City as throughout the world Lent is the time when Christians bow in spiritual self-immolation in memory of Him who suffered insults, lashing and crucifixion as a supreme example of selflessness and sacrifice.

Lent to the Christian world is a time of moral inventory and voluntary physical deprivations. It is, briefly, a time to take stock of oneself, be repentant of one's shortcomings and to acquire strength for a more worthy life.

The Lenten season as we know it today is shrouded in the halting uncertainties of early Christianity. It has come about because men have felt the need for an annual spiritual catharsis, a spiritual reawakening.

Early History

The word "Lent" is of Teutonic origin. It now denotes the forty days preceding Easter, but once it meant merely the spring season. The Latin term for Lent was 'Quadragesima." To Italians it is still "quaresima" and to Spaniards "cuaresma." The Latin, Italian and Spanish denote the 'fortieth day."

Modern scholars go back to Irenaeus, about 190 A.D., who has nothing to say, which would indicate that during his time Christians observed a Lenten fast of 40 days. The same conclusion is drawn from Tertulian, writing a few years after Irenaeus.

The season of preparation for the Easter Passion was variously commemorated—by the severe fast of one week, by less harsh fasts during three weeks prior to Easter and by six weeks in some communities during the later years of the early Christian church. During all that time, as now, Sunday was always excepted.

In Rome in the fifth century Lent was observed for six weeks, but the historian Socrates states that actual fasting was imposed on the people only three weeks of that time, the first, fourth and the sixth.

The city of Milan differed slightly from Roman custom as to the number of days when the fast was observed. Some maintained a fast of five days a week for eight weeks, even, so that the total fast days were forty.

Fast Differ

In the nature of the fast, too, there was much diversity in the earlier Christian churches as, for that matter, there exists diversity today. Socrates, the historian again, says of the fifth century that "Some abstain from every sort of creature that has life, while others of all the living creatures eat of fish only. Others eat birds as well as fish, because, according to the Mosaic account of the creation, they too sprang from the water; others abstain from fruit covered with a hard shell and from eggs. Some eat dry bread only, others not even that; others again when they have fasted to the ninth hour (three o'clock) partake of various kinds of food."

Thus it may be said that observances of Lent have fluctuated throughout the ages; and during the past few centuries mitigations have been introduced which make Lent less severe for those who are communicants of churches which still maintain any kind of fast and abstinence.

In the United States the Catholic church allows workingmen and their families to use flesh meat once a day throughout the year, except Fridays, Ash Wednesday, Holy Saturday, and the vigil of Christmas. But the prohibition against partaking of both flesh and fish at the same meal still stands for Catholics everywhere.

The Reformation And Lent

The Reformation did not altogether discard the observance of either fast or abstinence during Lent. The Lenten fast is still part of the creed of some Anglican and Lutheran communions.

Lent was first observed in England after the decree of Earconberht, king of Kent, ordered it in about the year 650. Lent in England was not not only decreed by ecclesiastical law but also by statute. This was discontinued in the reign of William III.

Generally speaking the practice of fast and abstinence was relaxed after the Reformation. However, William Law and John Wesley still advocated their observance.

With the comparatively recent growth of the Oxford Movement the English church has to some degree revived older customs of observing Lent, though no canonical law has been laid down to that effect.

Carol Lane To Address Lions

Travel Authority To Speak Feb. 27

The nationally known travel authority and lecturer, Miss Carol Lane, will address members of the Daly City Lions Club, February 27, according to Joseph Belli.

Miss Lane, who is women's travel director of Shell Oil Company, will show in her program that family travel is an investment which pays dividends in health, family harmony, learning and personal poise.

Miss Lane brings to the platform the opinion of authorities in such diversified fields as fashion, education and engineering, presenting new theories for broadening the benefits from travel and increasing vacation enjoyment. The practical application of these theories was personally tested by Miss Lane during 50,000 miles of travel in the United States last year.

At the Lions meeting, Miss Lane will demonstrate a versatile wrinkle-proof outfit consisting of one basic dress with unusual accessories to transform it into distinctly different costumes for sports, afternoon or evening occasions.

For the mother of inquisitive children, Miss Lane has a plan for converting the family car into a college-on-wheels headed for adventures in learning. Miss Lane recently squired three junior high school students on an educational tour and will relate how both she and the students brought the school books alive on the trip.

Demonstration of a "travel laundry," tip on budgeting, advice on where low-cost fun can be had, and helpful hints on how to avoid mechanical difficulties en route, are also included in the Shell expert's talk.

Born in Honolulu, Miss Lane received a Model A Ford from her father on her fifteenth birthday and has been an enthusiastic motorist ever since. A former newspaper woman and market researcher, Miss Lane is now well known as the author of the syndicated column "Tips on Touring" and of such helpful booklets as "Touring Can Be Child's Play" and "Travel A La Car."

Cables which propell San Francisco's cable cars are made of steel strands and are one and one-quarter inches in diameter.

JEFFERSON HI CLASS OFFICERS ELECTED FOR SPRING SEMESTER

Class officers for the spring semester at Jefferson Union high school were elected at a meeting held Tuesday morning, February 19.

Elected by their respective classmates were, high seniors: Don Wilson, president; Don Espinoza, vice-president; Ann Shoots, secretary; and Alfred Pistohl, treasurer.

Low seniors: Louis Massoni, president; Lola Mack, vice-president; Louis Cortopassi, secretary; and Ron Dickson, treasurer.

Juniors: Joan Beekman, president; Joe Galante, vice-president; Charles Olson, secretary; and Bill Allen, treasurer.

Sophomores: Don Delbon, president; Jack Thur, vice-president; Jerry Giomi, secretary; and Roberta Christensen, treasurer.

Freshmen: Janice Toole, president; Joan Stevenson, vice-president; Aline De Boton, secretary; and Eileen De Bernardi, treasurer.

Butano Forest To Be Added To Park

If the state park commission, the Butano Associates, Inc., and the counties of San Mateo and Santa Clara can arrive at an agreement, state purchase of the Butano forest by July 1 this year may become a fact, increasing the previously proposed state park and recreation grounds from 1680 to 1940 acres.

This possibility arose out of the meeting held last Friday in San Francisco between the state park commission and the division of parks and beaches and by San Mateo county recreation director, Ralph H. Shaw.

Better Camps, Beaches

The county recreation director concurred in the opinion of state park and beach aides that the addition of Butano forest would give the new park flat portions of terrain which would be more suitable for camping and recreation grounds. The previous proposal, without the Butano forest, would give less desirable, sidehill grounds for those purposes.

Within the new plan, too, 320 acres of federal government property would have to be released to the state. However, plans for the purchase of this acreage are already at the advanced stage where virtual assurance is felt that the Washington government will release this land for public park purposes.

Mrs. Ferrero To Teach Flower Arrangement At Evening Classes

A short course in flower arrangement will be offered in the adult classes at Jefferson Union high school, beginning Tuesday, February 26.

This class, which was requested by a number of women, will be taught by Mrs. Theresa Ferrero, who has had considerable training in this work.

Individuals and groups who are interested should come to room 15 in the main building Tuesday evening, February 26, at seven o'clock.

Dance Carnival To Be Held By Local Italian-Americans

Observing an old Italian custom, the Daly City-Colma Italian-American Citizens club will stage a gala pre-Lenten dance carnival at Colombo hall, Colma, Saturday evening, February 23. In Italy it is known as "La Pignatta"—Pot of Gold.

Dan Casentini, president of the club, and his committee on arrangements, have prepared for a large turnout from Daly City, Colma, Westlake and Broadmoor which is expected to attend the event.

The Italian-American club is an independent organization established in 1933.

Annual Banquet Held

The Peninsula Social club in San Mateo was the scene last Sunday, February 17, of the fifteenth annual banquet of the Council of Italian-American citizens clubs of this county.

It was estimated that about 500 people participated and the officials and civic leaders of Daly City, Colma and other county communities were present.

Among them were Tony Gaggero, Thomas L. Bocci, Jr., Mayor Paul Green of Daly City, Judges Draper and Scott of the San Mateo county superior courts and Louis Dematteis, district attorney of the county. The last three named spoke briefly.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP PIN GIVEN CHIEF SCHMIDT BY BROADMOOR P.T.A.

In a timely message, County Superintendent of Schools James R. Tormey addressed the Founders Day meeting of the James L. Snell PTA, Broadmoor, on Wednesday, February 13, on the subject, "Education Is Your Business."

Mr. Tormey explained that not only the school educates the child, his environment, home, social life and entertainment are major factors in his development.

Of major interest to all, Mr. Tormey thoroughly discussed the influences of television and radio on today's child.

A life membership in the unit was presented by Mrs. Robert N. Hilton, chairman of the Life Membership committee, to Police Chief Paul Schmidt. After an explanation of how the Life Membership custom came to be, and of how the money budgeted for this purpose is loaned to worthy students for higher education, the honorary life membership pin was placed on Chief Schmidt's lapel by Mrs. Hilton.

Schmidt, for two years police chief of the unincorporated Colma area, known as the Broadmoor Police Department, expressed his appreciation to the Unit, and was heartily congratulated by the membership present.

Mrs. William Johns read the lovely candlelight service traditional at all Founders Day meetings.

Among the guests present at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. H. Z. Weibel, Mrs. John Weisner, Miss Aileen Suber, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Tormey, and Mr. Thomas Callan.

The Broadmoor Flood Case

Resident Says He Is Tired Of Receiving Only A "Brush Off"

February 21, 1952

The Record
Editor
Dear Sir:

We are writing this letter in protest to the conditions that exist on and about our property on 916 87th street. We have called the Stoneson Development Corp., and the San Francisco Bank with no results. All replies were vague and disinterested.

The storm sewer, and only sewer we have to take care of our drainage, has been semi-clogged ever since installation. It takes a full day to empty out after any rainfall. Now it is completely clogged up and we have a gigantic pool in front of our garage and property. We had to fight to have the storm sewer originally installed after we had moved into our home.

When the hill at Larchmont and Stoneyford started falling down, the dirt was removed and dumped in the vacant lot and a huge mound was formed next to our house. The workmen led us to believe the dirt would be taken back as soon as a retaining wall was put up on the houses concerned. That was five weeks ago. The dirt is still here. The retaining wall was completed a week or so ago, and instead of taking the same dirt back, they took dirt from another source. We were told the dirt was too wet to move and would have to be left two months or so. The dirt was wet when they dumped it here, we don't see why they can't move it back under the same conditions.

Clogged Sewer

The storm sewer became entirely clogged up when the dirt was dumped, causing the flooded mess in front of our home. We had a stream down the side of the fence and water seeped in. Our home was flooded with water under it after the dirt was dumped, and our sewer clogged. We called Stoneson and again we were given the run around. We finally siphoned it out ourselves.

While all this was going on, the hill behind our homes started falling. When we asked what was going to be done to prevent future landslides, again we received a brush off.

Pressure

We feel the pressure of the dumped dirt, clogged sewer, and poor drainage is the cause of our mess and it should be taken care of immediately to prevent further damage to our property and the property of our neighbors. We feel if something drastic does not take place, next year the whole area is apt to slide away.

All of us on our block take pride in our homes and take painstaking care of our property. We want our land and surrounding area to look neat and presentable. We want to be proud to live in Broadmoor. Now we have to apologize for everything. We feel the construction company should at least cooperate and leave the area exactly as it was. No consideration or cooperation is shown to the homeowners. All we ask is fair play and respect for the property of others. We put our lifesafesavings into what we thought would be a clean neighborhood with modern adequate facilities and services to handle emergencies swiftly and competently.

We feel the homes on the North side of 87th street on the dead end block should have a retaining wall and adequate drainage facilities.

We hope some fair minded source can take action immediately and make this a presentable block.

Sincerely,
Richard F. O'Leary

Third Larchmont Resident Calls For Action On Damage Done His Home

624 Larchmont Drive,
Broadmoor Village,
Colma 25, California

Federal Housing Administration,
180 New Montgomery St.,
San Francisco, California
Gentlemen:

On December 16, 1951, I advised you as the holder of the security interest on my home at 624 Larchmont Drive, Broadmoor Village, of the condition of the property as a result of improper drainage. To date no real action has been taken to relieve the situation.

To bring you up to the present, my home has been flooded three times since December 1, 1951 (December 1, 1951, January 16, 1952, and January 26, 1952). On each occasion water has covered every room of my house to a depth of several inches. My rugs, my furniture, my drapes, my washing machine, my deep freeze, my automobile, my sprinkling system, my flower beds and my lawns have all been ruined. Portions of the drive-way into my garage have sunk. The house has settled on one side, and the foundation is cracked. Mud and water have settled into and damaged my walls. My back fence is going out. A hole twelve feet deep, ten feet wide and fifty feet long has been opened in my yard. The house itself is threatened and in danger of sliding down the hill. With each rain, my wife and I lose work. My wife's health has been impaired by the overwork and anxiety caused by each flooding.

But everyone refuses to take any responsibility. No person or organization will help. The Stoneson Development Corporation built my house. They sold it to me as a veteran. I bought it on a G-I loan as an F.H.A. approved home, and my wife and I have invested our life savings in the property. The Stoneson Development Corporation devised the drainage system—and did much work on it ten months after I had purchased the property. Yet they have sent no one to see me.

In view of the above, I am forwarding my check to the San Francisco Bank for the monthly payments on my loan, and placing the same in escrow, until such a time as the property is placed in the same condition it was in when I bought it. I feel that this is the only course that will preserve your security and my home.

Please advise me if you have any further information or advice on this matter.

Very truly yours,
Aden L. Cuykendall

"Privileged" Veteran Bemoans Lack Of Property Values Education

The Record
Editor
Dear Sir:

Like thousands of other "privileged"" veterans, I purchased a three-bedroom home in 1949. This house, after the weary years of Europe and Okinawa, was to be a place of peace, quiet and happiness. Although it meant sinking what I had salvaged from my prewar home and business and the small savings that a working wife could accumulate during my absence, somehow the view and the four walls seemed worth every cent.

Now during those war years, I had no time to acquire an education in the buying of property. My education was more concerned with land mines, etc. When I bought my property it was in good faith that the builder, namely Stoneson Corporation, and the FHA were to be relied upon as far as drainage, engineering, etc., were concerned. After all, for many years, the FHA had been the seal of approval for inspection of property for the granting of loans.

Life Begins

Therefore, life began anew in Broadmoor Village.

Now, after the irritations of war, began the battles of peace. First, the fight for the installation of a storm sewer, located at the end of 87 street. This sewer was so inadequate that it has had to be opened after every small rain; nevertheless, the open space at the end of the street has seldom been dry during the past 2½ years since the sewer was placed there for the drainage is so inadequate that a large pond of stagnant water stands constantly. Next came the dumping problem. In the process of building, all refuse seemed to be dumped at the end of our street leaving an unsightly, dangerous dump of broken concrete, etc. This encouraged a long line of rubbish dumpers to add to this eyesore. After many, many calls to Stoneson Corporation, Health Department, etc., a bulldozer was sent out to cover the rubbish. Then came the rains.

Now having learned from past experience that the effort to achieve results often cost more than the results were worth, I, at my own expense, had a concrete retaining wall built at the rear of my property.

Slide

When the rain began in January, the hill at Larchmont and Stoneyford began to slide. Along came the construction crew, dump trucks, etc., and dumped yard upon yard of dirt at the favorite dumping spot, the end of 87th street, until a huge hill of dirt was pile up. Then the sewer was really stopped up. Water pushed up from beneath the surface of the ground, flooding the basements of the houses next to the dump, and the side of the hill behind the dump began to sink. Day after day the hill sank further, reaching out in a curve behind the houses until it reached my property. Stoneson Corporation was called; the San Francisco Bank was called; and the well-known "buck" was passed. Each hour the slide became worse.

Now, after six weeks, the $600 retaining wall has sunk about 15 feet and moved down the hill. And, the hill is still sliding.

After innumerable phone calls to Stoneson Corporation, I am seeking other methods of action. If something is not done in the immediate future, there will be at least three houses of three veterans sliding into a canyon. We don't care to sit idly by while those houses and our life's savings continue their downward slide. And we have learned our bitter lesson—no longer can we say, "Oh, that house has to be well built. After all, it was passed for an FHA loan, and the Stoneson Corporation did build it."

False Fire Alarm Sends Man To Jail

Judge William J. Sweeney sent Henry E. Shields, 45, a baker, of 849 Niantic avenue, to the Redwood City county jail for 30 days when the man pleaded guilty in the Daly City police court Tuesday to turning in a false fire alarm at the box at 631 East Cavour street, near Mission, Monday.

Shields was arrested by Officers Lester Bastedo and John Van Otten of the local police force. They found him loitering around the box in a tipsy condition and became suspicious. His arrest followed his imediate admission to them that he had indeed turned in the false fire alarm.

Broadmoor Gets New Police Station

Just as soon as the San Mateo county district attorney hurdles all the legalities involved in the deal, the Broadmoor police will move into their new headquarters at 388 Eighty-eighth street. This is expected to be within the next ten days.

That was the announcement made by Chairman Claude Hanrahan of the Broadmoor police district board, which, besides Broadmoor, encompasses that part of Colma which is unincorporated. The purchase was made last Saturday, February 17.

The property was acquired from Louis and Gladys Martinez and adjoins the new Broadmoor Community Presbyterian church, now in the process of construction.

Cost $11.000

The cost of the property to the taxpayers of the district is $11,000. It has a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 100 feet. It includes a separate two-car garage and an areaway which will be used for police vehicles. The house has five spacious rooms.

The Broadmoor police force is composed of three full time officers, including Chief Paul Schmidt, and two part time (weekend) patrolmen. In addition, the force uses the services at special time of an auxiliary of 30 uniformed men and women.

The police commissioners, besides Mr. Hanrahan, are Patrick Patey and Amando Ferriris.

VETERAN'S AFFAIRS

Property Tax Exemption Filing Time Set For March

Veterans buying homes on contracts not registered with the County Recorder were reminded today by Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer of San Mateo County, that they must record their property before noon, Monday, March 3, if they want their $1,000 constitutional tax exemption this year.

The filing may be done at the office of B. C. Ross, city clerk for Daly City, at city hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

State law requires that a veteran's interest in his property be on record with the County before the opening of the annual filing period for tax exemption. Filing time runs each year from the first Monday in March through the last Monday in May.

A veteran who misses the recording deadline in any year can still apply for the $1000 exemption in subsequent years, Granger pointed out.

Noting that all veterans who contract for homes and farms under the "Cal-Vet" farm and home purchase program are assisted in recording their property with county recording officers, Granger said his reminder was directed chiefly to veterans who have purchased property under terms in which the purchase contract or deed has not been recorded.

Californians now on active duty and veterans of Korean emergency service are eligible along with veterans of earlier wars for the constitutional tax exemption. Widows, widowed mothers, and pensioned mothers and fathers of deceased veterans can in some cases apply for the exemption.

Full information on the veteran's exemption can be obtained at the Veterans Service Office, Courthouse, Redwood City, or from the city clerk's office in Daly City.

Man Pays Fine, Then Prefers Assault Charge

Following the payment of a $5 fine in Judge William J. Sweeney's local police court Wednesday afternoon when he was found guilty of having no tail lights on when his car figured in a collision with the auto driven by Anthony J. Cerko, 368 Citrus avenue, Alton West of San Francisco preferred charges against Cerko of assault and battery.

West charged that, in the argument which followed the collision, Cerko struck and knocked him down. Cerko's hearing was scheduled Wednesday for Tuesday, March 4.

BROADMOOR LEGION AUXILIARY ENTERTAINS OFFICERS OF DISTRICT

The Broadmoor American Legion Auxiliary, Unit No. 824, was host to officers of the district at the regular meeting of the unit at the Community Center Tuesday evening, February 19.

Among the honored guests at the event were Mrs. Helen Berryessa, mother of the unit and past department marshall and past president; Mrs. Arlene Cord, secretary of the district; Mrs. Mildred Stanley of San Carlos, first vice president; and Mrs. Mildred Mancini of Palo Alto, second vice president.

Mrs. Peggy Merchant, president, represented Unit No. 824 at the joint conference on child welfare held in Oakland, Saturday and Sunday, February 16 and 17. The conference embraced all Northern California American Legion posts, 40 et 8 and American Legion Auxiliaries.

Chief of Police Paul Schmidt gave an interesting and informative talk on civil defense at the Auxiliary meeting last Tuesday.

HILLCREST DRUIDS TO HAVE CARD PARTY

Hillcrest Circle No. 143, United Order of Druids, will hold a whist card party at Masonic hall, 17 Hillcrest avenue, next Monday evening, February 25, at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Mildred Kaskinen and Mrs. Eva Hobbs are in charge of arrangements for the event.

Valuable prizes will be given top winners in the games.

On Monday, February 11, Mrs. Sarah Brundage, grand Arch-Druidess paid the local circle an official visit. Valentine decorations were the motif of the affair. Yvonne Felch pinned a corsage of red carnations made into a heart on the bosom of the honored guest.

Fifteen grand officers and 10 circles of the Bay Area and the Peninsula were represented. Daly City Druids will be saddened to learn of the death Friday, February 15, of Margaret Mattison of San Jose, grand first bard. She was buried last Tuesday.

Man Pays $50 Drunk Fine In Local Court

Lester E. Trapeur, of 2585 Sweetwood drive, Colma, was fined $50 in Police Judge Wm. J. Sweeney's court Wednesday afternoon when he was found guilty of being drunk in and about an automobile.

The charges arose out of the arrest of Trapeur by Officer Rico Benedetti February 13 in the middle of the intersection at Niantic and Vista Grande avenues. Trapeur paid the fine.

"Signal and Be Sure" is said by the National Automobile Club to be a safe driving motto.

Worthless Check, $10; Court Fine Is $25

A $10 check cashed in July, 1951, in Tiny's tavern, 6045 Mission street, brought a fine of $25 in Judge Wm. J. Sweeney's city court Wednesday afternoon to A. R. Trapp, 80 Willits street.

William Lonich, the complainant, said that the check was returned by the bank on which it had been drawn shortly after it was cashed. It was later again deposited at the same bank, this on the advice of Mr. Trapp. However, again it was returned as worthless. Trapp pleaded guilty to the petty theft charge involved.

A Sparkling Car Is Best, By Far

With clearing skies and spring just around the corner the "Top of the hill" garage, otherwise known as the Daly City Super Service, 3356 San Jose avenue, is making a specialty of car washing these days.

Genial owner and manager, Joe Lewkowitz, tells his customers—many of them repeaters because of previous top washing jobs—that he knows, because he, too, drives a gas wagon, that there's a thrill in getting behind the wheel of a sparkling, newly-washed car.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—What is the best finish for hardwood veneer furniture?

A—No single finish is best for every species of wood and for all kinds of furniture pieces. If there is a rule to follow it is that a natural-looking finish is always desirable. The only reasons for finishing furniture are to enhance the natural beauty of the wood and to protect it from dirt, grease, liquid stains, and heat. Thick or extra shiny finishes should be avoided.

Q—What preparation is necessary before repainting hot-water cast-iron radiators?

A—First, remove loose particles of rust, paint and dust by rubbing vigorously with a wire brush. Then wash with turpentine to remove all traces of oil and grease. Any oil paint or enamel can be used for the new finish, but flat wall paint usually is more resistant to blistering and peeling than other finishes.

Q—Is it necessary to provide a base for a concrete walk?

A—If there is good natural drainage and the soil is loose enough for the water to sink, the concrete can be poured directly on the earth. There should be a six-inch foundation of clear gravel or cinders where drainage is poor and water is likely to collect under the walk.

California's principal mercury ore deposits are found in the Coast ranges in a northwest-southwest belt, approximately 44 miles long and 75 miles wide.

DOCTOR J. RICHARDS BECOMES LOCAL LION

Deputy District Governor O. H. Olson presented a film from the county superintendent of schools office, entitled "Teen Age and Drug Addicts" at the weekly luncheon meeting held by the Daly City-Colma Lions club Wednesday noon.

The speaker was introduced by the chairman for the affair, Lion Arnold Panella. Dr. Lewis J. Richards, 6387 Mission street, sponsored by Dr. Leo D. Mahan, 6315 Mission street, was sworn in as a new member.

Next week's luncheon meeting speaker will be Miss Carol Lane, women's travel director of the Shell Oil company. And on Wednesday non, March 12, Mayor Elmer Robinson of San Francisco will address the local Lions.

Knee Injury In Fall Requires 15 Stitches

Mrs. Anne Cain, 55, of 68 Willits street, suffered an injury to her knee which required 15 stitches at Junipero Serra hospital when she fell in front of 28 Knowles avenue at 11 p.m. Tuesday, last.

Officer Arthur Linhares responded to the call and drove Mrs. Cain to the hospital in a police car, where she was treated and then taken to her home.

1952 Auto Licenses Stolen From Colma Couple Last Monday

Colma earns the doubtful honor of being the community to turn up the first theft of 1952 automobile license plates.

Miss Renola Dawson and Sterling P. Winters, both of 847 Hillside avenue, Colma, reported to Chief Deputy Sheriff Walter Moore Monday that their license plates were removed from their cars parked in front of their residence.

How to treat your telephone

The best way to spruce up your telephone is to polish it with a soft, dry cloth . . . never with water or any other liquid. You'll find that it'll always be ready to serve you better, too, if you keep these simple pointers in mind: Avoid "gadget" attachments . . . keep cords free of doorways where they may be pinched . . . and always keep water away from wires and fittings.

it's precision-built . . . and it can develop ailments if it's dropped. So make sure the stand your telephone sits on is solid . . . and located in a place where the instrument won't be accidentally knocked off onto the floor.

Colma "B" Jets Suffer First Defeat Of Season; O.L.P.H. Triumphs 16 to 4

By HARRY ARONSON
Coordinator of Recreation

The Colma Jets were defeated for the first time this season by a determined Our Lady of Perpetual Help team that refused to be impressed by the Jets undefeated record. In fact, Perpetual Help held the Jets to four free-throws and not one single field goal, which tells the story of the game.

Bill Long, the Jets' high scoring center, was unable to find the basket, as "Big" Bob Brandt and Lee Casentini, OLPH stars, controlled both backboards. Casentini was high point man of the game with six, followed by Brandt with 4; other OLPH scorers were: Weckerle 2, Swickard 2, Fenn 1 and Murphy 1.

The point makers for the Jets were Hendon 2 and Rasmussen 2. The half time score was 6 to 4 in Perpetual Help's favor. The win for OLPH was important, they now stand an excellent chance of ending up in a tie for the championship if they win next week against the winless Colma Rockets.

Colma "A's" 16 - OLPH 14

The best game of the season took place last Friday night on the Jefferson high school gym harwoods when the Colma "A" Jets met OLPH with the Jets holding on to a two point lead throughout the entire fourth quarter.

The game started out with the Jets taking a 6 to 2 lead at the end of the first period. Half time favored the Jets 12 to 6. The third period found Al Gerrans, OLPH forward, looping in three field goals to bring his team within striking distance of the Jets, but a scoreless fourth period for both teams caused much excitement, as both sides missed easy layups.

Gerrans, OLPH forward, topped the scoring with 6 points. Other scorers for OLPH were, B. Peralta 4, J. Brush 2 and J. Sullivan 2. The boys who helped pile up the points for the Jets included R. Cryer 4, Lippert 4, B. Grubb 4, Cullen 2 and H. Funkhouser 2.

Colma Rockets vs OLPH

Games for Thursday, February 21, will match the Colma Rockets and the Perpetual Help teams. The outcome of these games will determine championship honors for the Colma Rockets "A" team, if they should win. A win for Perpetual Help would throw the standings into a three-way tie, with each team having a won 2, lost 2 record. A playoff will then decide the ultimate champion.

Cagers End League Season

Now leading in the Big Seven Conference basketball race, San Mateo Junior College will end its league season this Thursday evening in the Baldwin avenue gym, playing against City College of San Francisco.

In their recent game against Sacramento, Coach Ray Balsley's players won a thriller 52-50. At the close of the league season, the winner will compete for the state title in a tourney at Visalia.

Other sports at the college are about ready to step onto the stage. Trackmen are practicing for their first meet, golfers are starting practice on the local courses, tennis men are getting ready to face various college freshmen squads in preparation for the coming league season, and baseball players are about ready to start practice games.

A Howdy Doody dance welcomed new students to college with the opening of the spring term, and the coeds were also welcomed with a luncheon and program arranged by the Associated Women Students' cabinet.

South Africa will be the topic of the illustrated lecture at the junior college Monday evening, February 25, when Mrs. Jean Ray will tell of her 18-month visit to Africa. The program will be given in the college auditorium at 7:30 and is free to the public.

The adult center is having a heavy enrollment of men and women as the spring semester gets under way and more people are registering each night. There are 180 sections in the spring program arranged for the adults.

SPORTSMAN'S CALENDAR

The Division of Fish and Game reminds California sportsmen of the following general regulations which apply to current hunting and fishing:

BEARS

Ends February 29 in Del Norte, Humboldt and Mendocino counties. Closed elsewhere.

JACK RABBITS

Closed in southern California districts 4, 4½, 4¾, 19, 20, and 22. No closed season elsewhere. No bag limit.

STEELHEAD TROUT AND SALMON

Ends February 29 in specified waters. Bag limit: 2 trout or salmon or combination in most areas.

CATFISH

No closed season. Bag limit: 15 pounds and one fish. Night fishing permitted in Siskiyou, Shasta, Lake, and Modoc counties. Minimum size limit in Clear Lake only: 9 inches.

BLACK BASS, SUNFISH, CRAPPIE, SACRAMENTO PERCH

Ends February 29 in all counties north of Mono, Madera, Fresno, San Benito, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties. Bag limits: 5 black bass, 25 sunfish, crappie, perch. Local exceptions. No size limits.

STRIPED BASS

No closed season. Bag limit: 5 fish or 25 pounds and one fish, or 2 fish regardless of weight. Minimum size limit: 12 inches.

OCEAN FISH

No closed season in Pacific Ocean for salmon, trout, rockfish, tuna, yellowtail, marlin, broadbill swordfish, black sea bass, barracuda, white sea bass, bonito, rock bass, sand bass, kelp bass, halibut, corbina, croaker, lingcod, and cabezone. Bag limits: 3 trout or salmon north of Monterey—San Luis Obispo county line; 2 south; 15 in aggregate, but not more than 10 of any one of other species listed above.

FUR-BEARING MAMMALS

Ends February 28. Fur-bearing mammals may be taken only with a trap, firearm or the use of dogs. No open season on fishers and wolverines. Trapping license required for persons over 18 years of age.

New Mexico has eighty-six airports and over ten thousand miles of highways, according to the National Automobile Club.

New Hunting Laws Effective March 1

California hunters will be pursuing their game under a new set of shooting hour rules after March 1, when the 1952 hunting regulations take effect.

The State Fish and Game Commission made the new rulings last month at the annual regulatory powers session.

Officially, the Commission action reads:

"Shooting hours for all species of resident game shall be one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset except between November 22 and December 1, inclusive, when shooting hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in all counties lying north of San Luis Obispo, Kern and San Bernardino counties."

Commissioners announced that waterfowl hunting hours would not be affected by the new rulings for taking resident game.

"New Deal" Is Announced For Air Force Cadets

Air Force processing requirements for Aviation Cadet applicants have been radically slashed in an effort to fill immediate vacancies in pilot and observer training classes, Master Sergeant George C. Casey, 2865 Mission street, station commander, announced today.

The U. S. Air Force has eliminated initial processing conducted at the San Francisco, California, recruiting main station and qualified applicants are now sent directly from all recruiting stations to the nearest aviation cadet examining board. Previously applicants were required to pass a qualifying examination and be interviewed by a flying officer before meeting the cadel board.

"Men between the ages of 20 and 26½ who have completed two or more years of college and believe themselves to be physically qualified are urged to apply for cadet training. Each applicant must present a copy of his birth certificate and a transcript of his college credits upon arrival at the recruiting station."

Trumpeter swans are protected by international, federal and state laws.

OSTRICH RACES SET FOR S.F. SPORT SHOW

Racing ostriches will headline the entertainment at the big Sports, Travel & Boat Show opening at San Francisco Civic Auditorium Friday, February 29 for a ten-day run. The big African birds will be saddled, bridled and ridden by jockeys in a two furlong race around the show's indoor tank.

Ostriches have been clocked at 60 miles an hour and can cover 25 feet in one stride. While ostrich racing is a popular sport in Australia, the eight-foot high birds have never been raced in this country heretofore. The 300 pound birds pack a death-dealing kick in their long legs and have been known to kill lions and horses with their powerful legs.

Jeff Hi Bows To Palo Alto, 57-56, But Topples Willow Glen 49 to 34

By RAY SCHMITKE

A week ago Wednesday the Jefferson Indians made a powerful and impressive show against the top team in the PAL, the Palo Alto Vikings. It was the wildest yet of the league meetings, as a one point margin told the tale, 57 to 56 being the final score.

Sonnichsen, 17 Points

Don Delbon, the Brisbane star, and Don Sonnichsen, of Paly, vied for top honors as both boys nicked the score board for seventeen tallies. However, the most surprising sight of the tilt came in the last quarter of play. With the score tied at 56, a technical foul was called on the Jefferson Coach, Mike Orlich, for over cheering his team spirit. Don Malinoff was the player to whom the free shot was given and Don went on to sink the one throw.

Palo Alto held that cherished lead but a short time later, with three seconds left to play, Larry Blanchard was fouled on a lay in shot and stepped up to the foul line. But, call it what you may, Blanchard never received his compensation on the foul line because the timekeepper ruled that the score board clock was officially behind and the game was over. An overwhelming complaint and a prolonged argument was of no avail, the decision stood and the Paly team went home with a 57 to 56 win over the game Jefferson Hi team.

Jeffs Beat Willow Glen

Returning home from the San Jose gym triumphant the Jeff five could boast of a 49 to 34 win over the Willow Glen Rams last Friday. The Jefferson squad led the Rams all through the first quarter of play.

The hustling Indians scored 11 totes while the charging Rams were held to a mere five. The charging became fore pronounced in the second frame when the San Jose quintet scored seventeen points. However the Daly City high school's thirteen points made the score still favor the Indians 24 to 22.

Close play continued in the third quarter when forward Larry Blanchard of the local five showed a cool and steady eye which seemed to have the Willow Glen team mystified.

The last quarter was easy when the entire first string of the Jefferson squad displayed exceptionally fine ball handling and scoring ability to top the score board for an additional fourteen points and at the same time held the Rams to two.

Lions Toppled From Top Perch By Central Kegglers in League Play

The Daly City-Colma Lions, on top since the start of the current season and occasionally making as if to thunderously growl their triumph from the top rung of the local bowling league, were ignominiously toppled from their proud perch in last Monday's games by a determined Central club.

Defeat in two games slipped the Lions into third place, behind a two-way tie between Central and College Hill clubs.

The latter two keggler teams are tied by virtue of College Hill's superiority in two games against the Eagles. They have each won 34 and lost 29 games. The Lions trail with 33 wins and 30 losses.

High Series, Games

The high series of last Monday night's games was won by Del Fehl, Central club, who toppled 573 of the pins. He was followed by Grant Williams of the Lions with a 559 total.

But, the high series of the league has been made by none other than Paul Bruch of the Lombardi contingent with a total of 647, a high game of 278 and an average of 183.

The evening's high games were rolled by Tony Santos, Central club, with 205, and Nate Pealman of the Eagles, 204.

Gas and electricity are cheap in California!

For nearly half a century, Beale Memorial Tower has been a familiar landmark in downtown Bakersfield

Take BAKERSFIELD for example:
Typical residential gas and electric bill
In Bakersfield . . . $8.50
In all U.S. cities of similar size* . . . $15.97
*Average for the 21 U.S. cities outside California between 33,000 and 35,000 population. Based on a typical use of 100 kilowatt hours and 100 therms of gas per month.

P.G. and E. home rates are far below U.S. average!

The cost of living has nearly doubled since 1940, but P. G. and E. domestic rates are actually lower than they were then! Nothing else you buy costs so little—does so much. Let P. G. and E.'s bargain gas and electricity do more of your work, bring you more of life's comforts.

T.V. TAKEOFFS by the younger generation: Sherry Pollard, age eight, was watching one of the standard Western gun battles between the "good" guys and the "bad" guys when for some reason or other she became confused as to which was which. Giving a shout for mother, she cried excitedly, "Mother, are those the in-laws or the out-laws?"

And Barbara Hartwell, age 11½, lending a bored ear to bread commercial, "I want to ride along with Hopalong BECAUSE——" came forth with the following: "He's getting old, buddie, and he needs help!"

POST SCRIPT: "Says she!"

TIP-TOP store in town for looks and liquor is GEROLD'S liquor store on Top-of-the-Hill where owner Bob White makes it a pleasure to do business.

Keithley's "always open" Market on Top-of-the-Hill has everyday "banana" specials on cut and ripe bananas at three pounds for 25c, and their citrus fruit cannot be beat for quality and price.

That 25c silk scarf sale in the Sprouse-Reitz store on Top-of-the-Hill was a really good deal; Mrs. Brunette, of 125 East Vista, says she bought eight of them and still doesn't have enough! And why?—seems daughter Betty Ann likes them too—and reaches the stack first every time.

"WHO-NEEP-AIR-O SARAH" is the really the correct way to pronounce Junipero Serra—you know, the boulevard in front of King's Market, etc. . . . in spite of the fact that many in and out of towners persist in saying "June-ip-airo See-air-ah." (Spanish, you know!)

GLEASON'S Dress Shop has plans being drawn up by the "Weber Showcase" people in Apparel City for an almost complete redecorating job on their store.

"However," says Helen Sheehy and co-owner Marjorie Jama, "We have the goods right now, so come and see us and our new spring styles!"

POST SCRIPT: This is good advice if you want first choice because their merchandise moves fast and is usually not repeated.

"Edgewood Terrace Civic Association" re-formers Del Wilson, Jim Baird and Woody Chellew have announced Wednesday, February 27, as the date of a second reorganizational meeting, to be held in room 19 at Jefferson high school. The public is cordially invited and especially residents of Edgewood Terrace and Hillside Manor.

Seen in the Vista Grande Market on Top-of-the-Hill for Friday shopping: Mrs. Pete Conci, wife of the Shell Service "Pete Conci" at Hillside boulevard and Mission street and Mrs. Mervin Cresta, vice president of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers Club—both talking—and buying at a great rate!

Newest and most attractive addition to Toyland Nursery School at 474 San Diego avenue is brown eyed, Dutch bobbed Patty Fitzsimons—daughter of the Edward Fitzsimons at 91 Lake Forest drive in Westlake.

Tom Tromborg, the plumber at 6512 Mission street, has every chance of getting my vote in the council race if his platform comes up to his performance on the pipes in my kitchen!

"ELSIE'S BEAUTY NOOK," on Mission between Evergreen and Templeton streets, is under new management. She is blonde, friendly and nicely voiced Elsie Johnson, the new owner. Why not try her for that permanent or haircut you've been needing?

Laura Coleman, new owner of the Daly City Pet Shop—and daughter Gloria—have very obviously used more than a squirt of airwick deodorant over their new premises. The place shines with good old elbow grease and neatness—and they say they have only just begun!

Doneson's Dry Good Store—and for your information it is in San Francisco, but so close there on Rolph street just off Mission near Geneva—is a humdinger of a place for all kinds of things. Dry goods, toys, those odds and ends you never see anyplace else, and always need are there plus cute Mrs. Florence Doneson to help you.

But: "The BOSS," says Mrs. Doneson, "is my husband, Joseph!" Sounds good, doesn't it?

"Yes, you have no bananas?"—for that banana cake you're ready to bake right now? Keep a jar of "Esters" banana pulp on your shelves! Budget Savings Store at Templeton and Mission streets has the 2-pound jars on sale for only 25c a jar!

ALMOST COMPLETELY WASHED AWAY by recent floods is the play area at the new Frankfort park on Frankfort street. A hole almost six feet deep and as wide has sunk behind the new backstop, center. Damage will necessitate several hundred dollars worth of repairs. (Photo by Pat Corner)

MELTON, JR.

Floyd William Melton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Melton of 4 Werner street, Daly City, has volunteered for a "Minority Enlistment" in the U. S. Navy through the Navy Recruiting Office located in the Post Office building in San Mateo, announced Chief Walter H. Hallfarth.

Floyd, Jr., had been attending Jefferson Union high school prior to his enlistment in the Navy. His enlistment will expire one day prior to his 21st birthday.

Floyd will receive a thorough training at the Naval Training Center in such subjects as seamanship, small arms and gunnery, boat handling, swimming, military drill, fire fighting, Naval history, self-preservation and defense, and other subjects including Navy nomenclature, etc.

Melton will be given the opportunity of taking two weeks leave upon completion of his basic training so that he may come home to visit his parents and friends prior to receiving his assignment to a ship of the Pacfiic Fleet.

Pvt. Raymond F. Veit, 115 Moltke street, is participating in Exercise Snow Fall, the joint Army-Air Force winter war games now in progress at Camp Drum, N. Y.

He is a member of the 11th Airborne Division's 511th Regiment, a highly-trained unit which also took part in Exercise Southern Pine last fall.

The current maneuver, involving more than 30,000 soldiers, is designed to teach teckniques of Arctic warfare and to test winter equipment. Fort Campbell, Ky., is the home station of the division.

Private Veit entered the Army Jan. 18, 1951, and is presently a rifleman with Company A. He attended Jefferson Union high school.

(The following is a list of local men in the service, and where they may be reached. THE RECORD prints this list as a public service. Any additions, or changes, should be addressed to THE RECORD, 3317 San Jose avenue—or by phoning PLaza 5-4321. How you can compare cars and judge value!

Where others give you "sell" ...we give you proof!

Stop by soon . . . we'll be glad to give you your copy of the "Show Down" booklet that helps you make car-value comparisons so quickly, conveniently . . . convincingly. You can take it home and make your money-saving comparisons at your leisure!

Our new "SHOW DOWN" WAY gives you the full facts and free proof you've been looking for!

BE YOUR OWN expert on car value! Let the facts prove how the big new Dodge for '52 gives you more comfort, safety and economy than even cars costing hundreds of dollars more!

First, of course, you'll want to actually inspect the smart lines and luxurious interior of this big new Dodge. Then . . . with the free Dodge "Show Down" booklet . . . really get down to "brass-tack" comparisons. You can quickly compare with other cars the Dodge features that give you extra satisfaction even after thousands of miles.

For instance, Dodge gives you big, smooth-stopping Safe-Guard Brakes with longer-wearing Cyclebond linings and six hydraulic brake cylinders instead of the usual four. See how other cars—even those costing hundreds of dollars more—compare on these important safety features!
